CANTON BOMBINGS LEAVE SHAMBLES OF SOUTHERN CITY

Unrelenting Attacks Push Toll of Dead and Injured to 8,000, Drive Half of Citizens From Town.

HUGE FIRES RAGE UNCONTROLLED

American-Endowed Uni- versity Property Struck Three Times by Raiders.

CANTON, June 9.—(Thursday)
(AP)—Unrelenting Japanese bombardment of this once-prosperous South China metropolis has started huge fires, crippled the city's utilities, and pushed the toll of dead and injured above 8,000.

Twenty-five Japanese planes struck at Canton last night in the third raid of the day and the city's second successive night raid in 12 days of bombardment.

The fliers dropped incendiary bombs and a huge fire raged just opposite Shameen, the city's foreign quarter.

There was no way of determining accurately the toll of dead and injured in the wave of bombardments which started May 28, but conservative estimates before last night's raid were that at least 3,000 had been killed and 5,000 wounded.

The American-endowed Ling-nam University and an Americanowned Standard Oil storage plant were struck by bombs in the two previous raids yesterday.

The oil tanks burst into flame and fire spread to the terminal of the Canton-Hankow railway. The station and a 16-car train were destroyed.

Main objective of last night's bombardment was an oil power plant which supplied Canton with light after a direct hit on the main power station had cut off electric power.

JAPANESE PREPARE CHENGCHOW ASSAULT

SHANGHAI, June 9.—(Thursday)—(AP)—Japanese infantry and artillery units strengthened their positions for a direct assault on strategic Chengchow today.

Chinese admitted that the Japanese were within a few miles of that objective, the junction of the Lunghai and Peiping-Hankow railways.

Several foreign missionaries were reported still at Chengchow engaged in treating victims of the air attacks.

JAPANESE LAND NEW COLUMB

HANKOW, China, June 8.—(AP)
Two Japanese warships steamed 150 miles up the Yangtze above conquered Nanking today to land new Japanese troops apparently for an overland thrust 250 miles west to Hankow, China's temporary capital.

The Japanese made a successful landing between Wuhu and Anking in the heart of Anhwei province, under protection of Japanese naval guns.

Resumption of Japanese activity in the Yangtze region diverted Hankow's attention from the threat of advancing Japanese forces to the north, where a huge army moved closer to Chengchow, only 300 miles from Hankow.

Nineteen Japanese ships pushed

TEACHERS' SALARY PAYMENT READY

21,000 To Receive Final Pay Under 7-Month Law; Stabilization Fund Aids.

Georgia's 21,000 school teachers have their prospect of finishing the school term with a jingle in their pockets as Governor Rivers yesterday announced the state was prepared to pay off its final salary obligations under the seven-month school term guaranteed by law.

J. I. Almond, supervisor of school administration, said it was the first time in several years the teachers would be paid before expiration of the fiscal year June 30.

Approximately $665,000, covering overdue salaries for the last half of April, was scheduled to be transmitted to local school authorities as quickly as final payroll reports are filed with the State Department of Education.

The Governor said the reports were necessary since all adjustments arising from previous payments necessarily would have to be made when the final warrant is drawn.

The payment would bring to approximately $9,201,000 the total salary payments made since July 1, 1937. The total expenditure for school purposes during the period, including textbooks, equalization fund payments, administration and

Sir Josiah Stamp Created Baron; Admiral Who Aided Panay Honored

LONDON, June 9.—(Thursday).
(AP)—Sir Josiah Stamp, noted economist, was elevated to the peerage today as King George VI observed his "official" birthday by creating two new viscounts, two barons, one privy councillor, six baronets and 35 knights bachelor.

The King was 43 years old last December 14, but celebration of his birthday was put forward to June 9, as last year, for better weather. He will observe the day by taking the salute at a trooping of the colors on the Horse Guards' parade.

Rear Admiral Reginald V. Holt, who aided the crew of the United States gunboat Panay when it was bombed in the Yangtze river in China last December, was made a companion of the Order of the Bath.

BOMBINGS ANSWER NOTE TO REBELS

Franco Is Believed To Be Unable To Control Ital- ian and Nazi Aviators.

LONDON, June 8.—(AP)—Great Britain tonight considered putting squarely before Premier Mussolini the matter of repeated Spanish Insurgent attacks on British shipping.

Foreign Minister Viscount Hal-fax broke short a holiday to resume charge of the foreign office as public indignation mounted higher with each new bombardment of an English boat in Spain.

An insurgent seaplane shelled and machine-gunned the small British-owned Port of Gandia in Spanish government territory today, sinking a British dredger and destroying other property with 30 well-placed bombs.

Three British ships were damaged yesterday. In a fortnight of such insurgent attacks—by what many persons here believe are Italian or German-manned warplanes—12 foreign ships have been sunk or damaged.

British protests to insurgent Generalissimo Franco were followed by more raids on British craft quartered in Spanish government ports.

Some British newspapers concluded that Italian and German fliers in Spain were ignoring Franco's orders in continuing to single out ships flying the Union Jack for attack.

Several authoritative London observers believe Franco can no longer control foreign aviators in his forces.

The word "sanctions"—which is now seldom used—was revived during consideration of possible actions to impress upon General Franco the need for "proper respect towards British interests."

The seizure of a Franco ship whenever a British boat was sunk was considered. Informed quarters pointed out, however, British ships going to Spanish ports were repeatedly warned by the London government that they did so at their own risk.

ACREAGE INCREASE PREDICTED BY AAA

73,000 Acres Expected From Swap of Unused Allotments in Cotton.

ATHENS, Ga., June 8.—(AP)— Allotments for Georgia cotton growers under the amended federal law probably will be increased about 73,000 acres, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration estimated today. This is an increase of about 4 per cent, officials said.

Officials explained, however, that the amount of land which would be involved in the swapping of unused allotments will not be known for some time.

The increase will not be allotted counties in such a way as to give each county a flat 4 per cent increase, authorities declared. Instead, larger increases will be given small farms than large farms, thus varying the increase for each county.

Original cotton allotments, exceeding the increase and the reserve of 36,692 held back for new growers, follow for the counties

Woman Bitten By Snake --- Rejects Aid

Places Confidence in Faith After Religious Service Bite.

HAMMOND, La., June 8.—(AP)
Mrs. Joseph Rushing, rejecting medical services in the belief faith alone would save her life, watched painfully tonight for the swelling to disappear from her left arm and hand bitten by a water moccasin during religious services Sunday night.

The 56-year-old woman, mother of four children and wife of a Crystal Springs (Miss.) sawmill operator, lay in a small cottage near here while her husband held vigil beside her.

He, too, contended that faith alone was necessary to heal her.

Earlier in the day Ned Mc-Gehee, Hammond athletic director and amateur naturalist, said he had caught the snake, knew it was "loaded with poison," and had given it to the sect.

Sect members said Mrs. Rushing was the seventh person to handle the reptile during the "thrill and surprise" part of the religious program and that after sinking its fangs in the woman, it had "become so ill and mean it had to be stomped to death."

MRS. COSGROVE'S WILL FILED HERE

Atlanta Institutions, Friends and Relatives Included in Bequests.

Bequests totaling $47,500 are provided Atlanta institutions, relatives and friends of the late Mrs.
Maud Lowrie Cosgrove, whose will was filed for probate yesterday in the Fulton county ordinary's office.

Mrs. Cosgrove, widow of the late W. L. Cosgrove, president of the Atlanta Gas Light Company before the turn of the century, died recently in Vancouver, British Columbia.

The will also directs that Mrs.
Cosgrove's Oriental rugs be distributed to 14 Atlantans.

Signed and dated June 11, 1931, the will provides a $16,000 bequest for Caroline Nicolson, daughter of the late Dr. W. P. Nicolson.

Mrs. Cosgrove directed that $10,000 be invested in bonds or first mortgages on improved real estate for the Joseph H. Rhodes Home for Incurables, with the income going to the home.

The will names the Trust Company of Georgia as trustee of a $15,000 bequest for the Steiner clinic. Should the Steiner clinic cease operating as a hospital for treatment of cancer, the fund will be turned over to the Georgia Baptist hospital to "provide free medicine, nursing service and medical service for those unable to pay," the will provides.

In a codicil to the will—signed and dated May 2, 1938, Mrs. Cosgrove directs that all her holdings in American Telephone & Telegraph Company and in the Georgia Power Company at the time of her death be given "free of death duties and inheritance taxes" to George Henry Kuchler-Knight, a young musician, of Woodland Rise, Reigate, England.

Mrs. Cosgrove, who had traveled extensively abroad during the past few years, requested that several pieces of her jewelry be given to persons in England and France.

Cash bequests of $3,000 each were provided for Miss Mary

'OLD BLUE EAGLE,' HARTLEY PROTESTS

Plan Provides 40-Cent Minimum in 7 Years Un- less It Will Cost Jobs.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—
An irreconcilable southern faction held out firmly tonight against a wage-hour compromise otherwise generally approved, and thereby kept uncertain the date on which congress will adjourn.

Whether the southerners would be content to vote against the new proposal or would convert their opposition into a senate filibuster, which might prolong the session for several weeks, was the question. And, for strategic purposes, the southerners weren't saying—yet.

The wage-hour program was formally approved today by 12 of the 14 members appointed in the house and senate to draft a compromise. It was proposed by one of the three southern members of the conference committee, Representative Ramspeck, Democrat, Georgia, and contained enough concessions to the south to attract the support of another, Senator Pepper, Democrat, Florida.

Ellender Opposes.
But the remaining southerner, Senator Ellender, Democrat, Louisiana, was quick and emphatic in announcing his opposition. Ellender is regarded as the spokesman for a like-minded southern group.

In the conference committee, however, Ellender was joined only by Representative Hartley, Republican, New Jersey, in voting against the compromise. Because the program provides for advisory boards, Hartley said:

"The old Blue Eagle (of NRA) flies again, this time looking more like a vulture than an eagle."

"The wage provisions, as adopted by the conferees today," Hartley added, "seem to be based on the Washington obsession that there ought to be a law, and they don't give a damn what kind of a law."

7 Years—40 Cents.
Ellender opposed the proposed bill because it provides that seven years hence a statutory minimum wage of 40 cents shall be applied to all interstate industries, except those in which such a wage would lead to unemployment. Special boards appointed for each industry would investigate to deter-

Without a Country, Baboon Sails Again

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—A young "baboon without a country" started his third voyage across the Atlantic aboard the S. S.
Queen Mary today.

Two weeks ago an unknown
joker sent the baboon to a passenger as the ship was ready to sail from New York. The passenger refused the bon voyage gift, and British port officials would not permit the ape to be put ashore in Southampton.

When the Queen Mary arrived Monday, American officials also barred the baboon. They said the animal had no papers to show his origin and no health certificate.

Kayo Mullins Deserts Moon For Arden in 'Oompah' Race

Swinging Fists, Direct-Action Brother Calls on All Other Candidates To Withdraw or Face Exposure—Says He'll Tell All He Knows.

(Editor's Note: Sensational double-dealing appeared last night in the race for Oompah, or chief, of Constitution comic page characters. The editor, frankly, finds himself at a loss for words, and you may be very sure that when an editor—any editor—is at a loss for words, there have been goings-on. An editor is frequently at a loss, but rarely for words. So we will let Colonel Whoopen Blast (who is never at a loss for anything) take it over and tut-tut about the situation.)

By COLONEL WHOOPEN BLAST, Political Commentator Extraordinary.

Well, friends, it always has to happen in any political campaign of importance, and so I guess there was no preventing that well-known, hydra-headed institution, the Two-time, from coming slithering into our midst. And come slithering it did.

I announce, therefore, with regret, that Kayo Mullins took a run-out powder last night on his brother Moon. Nor did he stop there; no, sir, nor did he. He went further and denounced a rival candidate, the lovely Jane Arden. Kayo declared unequivocally and with both fists flailing the air in defense that he had been misled, that nobody had told him anyone like Jane Arden was in the race.

"I can prove it!" he shouted. "It stands to reason. The fact that up until now I've been helping Moon shows you right there I didn't know Jane was running. Now that I know, Moon and Gump and Tarzan and Tracy had better step because with what I've got on them—and a lot of others I could mention, and will, if they get tough—this is going to turn into just a one-candidate race, and that candidate is Jane."

"In fact," Kayo roared, getting worked up and a bit above himself, "I'm a-warnin' certain parties they'd better withdraw from this race. They know who I mean."

He went off down the alley muttering to himself and pausing ever now and again to slam his derby against the ground and jump on it. He seemed to be somewhat upset.

In justice to Miss Arden it should be said that she knew nothing of Kayo's sensational espousal of her candidacy for Constitution readers' votes until City Editor Lamar Ball's sleepless, grapevine brought in the news and he asked Jane for a statement.

"I really don't know just what to say," Jane, breathless from her fire rescue activities, admitted. "I'm awfully glad to have Kayo on my side. He may be a little ruthless, but he's loyal. Still, I'd hoped to avoid unpleasantness. And with Kayo working for me I'll never know just what to expect."

"Then, you repudiate Kayo's help?" queried the round, subtle city editor, who is known far and wide as a Dick Tracy backer. "You mean, you'll repudiate Kayo's repudiation of Moon's candidacy?"

But the charming girl reporter was too fast for that old one.

"I don't mean anything," she said, "except that I didn't get Kayo to do this, but if he feels he should then I'll just go along and hope for the best and not say anything about it one way or the other."

So that left the situation just where it was—wherever that was. But Lord Plushbottom took the news in no such magnanimous spirit. Truth is, so Dick Tracy said (and he had the word from Orphan Annie, who knows all about finding out things) that Moon has got into Lord Plushbottom pretty heavily for campaign expenses and the noble peer feels his one chance of coming out solvent is for Moon to win.

"It is base ingratitude, in my view, for Kayo to go chasing off this way," declared his Lordship, formally, from the Council Chamber at the City Hall—this being the nearest approximation to the House of Lords available. "When you consider what we have put up with from that young jackanapes through the years—how he never has once shown a profit or even a momentary upward bobble—you can see why I should feel warmly about his present attitude."

"(Stuff and nonsense!)" Emmy declared to Lord Plushbottom. "I know what's worrying you—it's the money Moon got off you. But that suits me fine. It means you'll have less for telephone calls, shoe shines and hair oil."

Red and mumbling, his Lordship retired. Moon, however, issued a significant statement. "It was brief, pointed, almost one might say eloquent. It was the following, to-wit: 'Where is that Kayo?'"

The battle for Oompah of Constitution comic characters progresses. Follow its developments daily in The Constitution. You can never tell what's going to happen between now and Election Day, July 4.

GRADUATES URGED TO BAR ALL FEAR

Face Life's Battle With Inner Resources, Spelman Class Advised.

There should be no place in the life of a college graduate for fear, Dr. Frederick K. Stamm, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Community church in Brooklyn, N. Y., said yesterday at commencement exercises of Spelman College, at which 48 seniors received bachelor degrees.

Using "Life's Equipment" as his subject, Dr. Stamm, who speaks each week over a national radio hookup, declared: "If young men and women are going into life to win, it is necessary for them to face the battle with some inner resources and there is no place for fear in the life of one who works steadily."

Three Types of Equipment. He said there are three kinds of equipment needed to emerge victorious in life's battles. These are, he said, stamina, sound thinking and love.

"Everyone needs stamina to carry on ideals," he emphasized. "It is easy to have ideals, but difficult to carry them into life after college."

It is not necessary to be a genius to be of a sound mind. The world gets along on the work of people who have ordinary talents who think clearly about the problems in the world. Love and affection develop personality; nothing can do it more quickly."

The exercises were featured by selections by the college glee club, prayers by Dr. Charles D. Hubert, acting president of Morehouse College; congregational singing and awarding of the degrees by Florence M. Read, president of Spelman College.

Bachelors of arts degrees were awarded to:

Lorraine Ovens Alston, Jacksonville, Fla.; Alma Louise Andrews, Atlanta; Belle Baker, Atlanta; Gertrude Vena Brown, Cleveland, Ohio; Helen Ruth Clark, Spelman, Atlanta; Lucile Newman Coleman, Columbus, Ga.; Beuna Nell Crew, Thomas, Ga.; Lillian Beatrice Davis, Birmingham, Ala.; Lucile Horne Green, East Point, Ga.; Dorothy Nell Hamilton, Atlanta; Courtney Wynne Hannon, Atlanta; Mexico Yvonne Hembree, Atlanta; Mattie Benning Hill, Atlanta; Christine Hodges, San Antonio, Texas; Alice Elizabeth Hubert, Atlanta; Lorraine Palmer, Atlanta; Jennie Della Pritchard, Atlanta; Vesta Louise Rector, Atlanta; Lorraine Sanders, Atlanta; Avis Carolyn Seace, McDonough, Ga.; Mildred Combs Sneed, Atlanta; Celestine Taylor, Americus, Ga.; Alberta Elizabeth Thomas, Atlanta; Dorothy Eugene Turner, Homestead, Fla.; Sara Eloise Usher, Denmark, S. FULLER ADDRESSES
COLLEGE RETREAT1,420 at Ridgecrest Hear Atlantan Stress Value of Faith.

RIDGECREST, N. C., June 8.—Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, pastor of the First Baptist church of Atlanta, was featured speaker tonight before 1,400 college students from 16 states assembled here for the first session of an eight-day student retreat.

Speaking on the importance of faith in the world today, Dr. Fuller, who is also president of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist convention, declared that "the lazy legs of logic and reason limp in the upward climb toward knowledge, but with uncanny intuition, faith arrives immediately at sane conclusions."

"There is an element of faith in all walks of life, in science as well as in religion," the speaker continued. "In both of the latter fields, faith is necessary to the acquisition of knowledge. In the physical world, without faith, one finds himself, like Baby Moses of old, floating around in a strange ark on a deep sea of mystery."

Dr. Fuller added that "faith has

STATE TESTIMONY HIT IN 'FLOG' CASEFormer Solicitor Comes to Aid of Defense.

BARTOW, Fla., June 8.—(P)—More than a score of defense witnesses were called to the stand in criminal court today in an effort to disprove testimony offered by the state that five former Tampa policemen kidnaped Eugene F. Poulnot the night 30 months ago he and two companions were flogged, tarred and feathered.

The story of Poulnot and another of the victims, Samuel J. Rogers, was attacked by two witnesses who quoted Poulnot and Rogers as having said previously they could not recognize any of their abductors.

Leroy Allen, former assistant solicitor at Tampa, said he heard Poulnot tell former Solicitor C. Jay Hardee "there is no way in the world I can identify them."

Hardee corroborated Allen's story.

Do You Want To Fill Your Cellar?
It's Perfectly Legal, Judge RulesRosser Declares Atlantans Can Buy All the Whisky They Wish and Haul It Around—Burden Is on Dealer, He Asserts.

Atlantans can buy all the legal whisky they desire and "haul as much around in their automobiles" as they like without fear of prosecution, Judge Luther Z. Rosser ruled yesterday in municipal court.

The judge said that after studying the new state law he was convinced that the law's reference to the two quarts per day limitation placed the burden on the dealer not to sell any one person more than that amount.

Judge Rosser issued the ruling as he ordered 95 pints of whisky bearing state and federal tax stamps turned over to Attorney George Finch, representing a negro, John Wimberly, who was arrested with the whisky in an automobile May 24.

Wimberly, convicted in criminal court of possessing legal whisky for sale without a retail license and given the alternative of paying a $100 fine or serving 12 months, said the whisky "belonged to a man who gave me $10 to haul it to Columbus," county police testified.

Finch sought return of the whisky on a possessory warrant challenging right of the county police to confiscate and hold the whisky.

"It seems that a person can buy as many cases as he wants and can haul it around in his automobile," Judge Rosser said. He added that he could find no point in the new liquor control law authorizing confiscation of legally stamped whisky.

Attorney Harold Sheats, raising a point for the county, challenged the authenticity of the state stamps on the whisky.

"Your Honor," Finch said, taking the stand, "I represent a number of underworld characters, according to the assistant solicitor general, Shorty Andrews. They have asked me to buy state stamps for them, but when I questioned Commissioner T. Grady Head he said stamps could not be sold to individuals."

His statement was made, it was said, to prove that the whisky had to go through the state warehouse.

MURDER CHARGED TO TAVERN OWNERDeKalb Grand Jury Indicts
Frank Overman.

A murder indictment was returned by the DeKalb county grand jury yesterday against Frank Overman, 52, Peachtree road tavern operator, in the death last Saturday night of Warren Jackson Howard, 38, Brookhaven house painter.

The indictment against Overman was one of 18 true bills returned by the jury. Three no bills were also returned. J. L. McCord was elected jury foreman, and A. R. Almon was named secretary.

Howard was shot to death in Overman's tavern, following an argument over change. When arrested, Overman told police the shooting was accidental.

The jury recommended regulations be passed by the county commissioners forbidding girls and boys under 21 years of age to work as servers in beer parlors, pointing out such work "set a bad example."

The matter was referred to County Commissioner C. A. Matthews.

Paralysis Solution
Kills Sense of Smell

CHICAGO, June 8.—(P)—Two scientists, who a year ago announced a potential protector against infantile paralysis in a zinc sulfate solution, warned today further investigation convinced them it robbed humans of the sense of smell.

In children the loss, known technically as anosmia, was never permanent, but in adults the ability to detect odors was much longer in returning.

The experimenters, Drs. E. W. Schultz and L. P. Gebhardt, of Stanford University, California, writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, said that in several cases among adults treated with the solution, "the sense of smell has not yet returned after a period of more than six months."

They are continuing their experiments to determine the apparent connection between anosmia and resistance to the disease in the hope that definite achievement toward prevention of infantile paralysis will follow.

ELEVATOR SAFETY HEARING SET TODAYBuilding Owners Protest Council Ordinance; Cite Heavy Cost Involved.

Public hearing on an elevator safety ordinance adopted by city council Monday will be held at 10 o'clock this morning by Mayor Hartsfield at the city hall.

The ordinance would require that all elevators erected prior to December 11, 1931, be made to conform with the safety code of the American Standards Association.

The mayor said building owners had protested to him that conformity with the structural code of the association would entail large expenditures, while on the other hand, the elevators already pass the city's safety inspections made by the superintendent of electrical affairs, Dewey L. Johnson.

The elevator safety ordinance was not included in the recommendations of the special committee of experts appointed by council to investigate fire and building hazards after the Terminal hotel blaze. This ordinance was recommended for passage by the electric lights committee of city council, of which Councilman William T. Knight is chairman.

FARM PARITY PLAN MAY FORCE HOUSE RELIEF BILL VOTE

President Approves Senate Action in Adding to WPA Allotment.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today approved senate action in adding $175,000,000 to the works relief appropriation in the $3,723,000,000 recovery bill, admitting to house officials that the unemployment outlook "has not improved" since he recommended a smaller sum.

In a message to congress on April 14, the President proposed $1,250,000,000 for WPA expenditures in the first seven months of the fiscal year. The senate appropriations committee added $175,000,000 and specified that the fund should be distributed over eight months.

"This amount should prove sufficient to meet our relief needs until congress has the opportunity to survey the situation at the beginning of its next session and make the necessary appropriation for the balance of the fiscal year," the President said in a letter to Speaker Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama.

The chief executive's endorsement came as it appeared likely that the recovery-relief measure would be thrown back on the house floor for a decisive vote on the $212,000,000 farm parity price amendment which was written in without senate opposition.

The conferees of the two houses meet for the first time tomorrow to reconcile several differences in the legislation as passed by each chamber. The senate bill carries appropriations of $600,000,000 in excess of the house measure and one-third of the increase lies in the controversial farm amendment.

Active Support.
An informal poll of senate agents tonight revealed that they are not inclined to yield to house opposition on the agricultural proposal which was sponsored by Senator Russell, Democrat, Georgia, and which is actively supported by southern and mid-western senators. Farmers who would benefit are those who produce cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco.

Russell, who is not one of the conferees but who is working behind the scenes for his proposal, said he is confident a separate vote on it would be demanded in the house.

"The farmers certainly are entitled to this money," he said. "The house was not given a opportunity to vote on this plan. Until they do, I am confident that the senate conferees will resist every attempt to eliminate it."

No Tax Provision.
When it was pointed out that the amendment makes no provision for imposing taxes which would raise the $212,000,000—a stipulation which President Roosevelt laid before congress when it met last January—the Georgian said:

"No provision is made in the bill to raise the other $3,000,000,000 which we are going to distribute either."
He said that if the house rejects the farm amendment the senate conferees probably would accept this action as final and eliminate the proposal. The house conferees, headed by Representative Clifton Woodrum, Democrat, Virginia, met secretly last week and agreed to wage a last-ditch fight against the plan.

COSTLY ANTIQUES SHOWN IN PICTURE

'Holiday' Background Valued at $500,000.

Antiques valued at more than half a million dollars were used in a house constructed by Columbia Pictures Corporation in the latest film production of "Holiday," written by Philip Barry and starring Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant.

Since the plot of the story hinges on the reactions of a young man, unaccustomed to grandeur, who falls in love with a girl who has been reared in an atmosphere of great wealth, the house and its furnishings became as important as characters in the film. Although some of the furnishings were copies of famous art objects, many were originals and a guard was maintained day and night while the picture was being filmed.

YOUR OIL FREE

(UP TO THE FULL MARK)

- IF I FORGET TO CHECK IT

It's mighty important that you always have enough oil in your engine. If you don't, you're headed for trouble.

To save you grief, all of us Shell dealers make you this proposition:

Drive into one of our stations. If we don't check your oil—AUTOMATICALLY—we'll bring your oil level right up to the full mark FREE OF CHARGE.

We will put in our Golden Shell Oil, too...the oil that's been refined especially for today's stop-and-go driving.

Maybe you never knew that stop and go calls for a certain kind of motor oil. Well, it does—and here's the reason why...

You average ten cold starts a day. If your oil is sluggish and slow-flowing, one start can cause as much wear as fifty miles of steady running.

Golden Shell changes all this. It's fast-flowing. The second you step on your starter, Golden Shell coats each engine part with a tough oil film that does not break down...even under the heat of your steady running.

Remember...there's no finer oil than Golden Shell at any price.

THE TREASURY DEFICIT?

In a recent issue of Harpers Magazine, David Cushman Coyle analyzed the spending methods of the federal government. He declares it is doubtful if there is, actually, a deficit in the federal treasury, at least not to the extent of the $40,000,000,000 which is commonly believed.

Mr. Coyle bases his argument upon the contention public bookkeeping is not conducted upon the same system as that of private enterprise. Many of the expenditures of the federal government, he says, are actually capital investments. Even though they may not be self-liquidating, they nevertheless add to the basic wealth of the nation and should, therefore, be listed as assets to offset the funds expended upon their construction.

Such projects as the building of schoolhouses, health centers and recreation places should be listed as assets to offset expenditure, he asserts. He adds if this was done the financial picture painted in budget reports would be far different from that given under the method followed today.

Mr. Coyle is, in large degree, correct. A business corporation does not list its home office building costs, for example, as a current expense, but amortizes it over a period of years as capital investment, necessary for the continuance of the business.

Conservation of soils and forests, similarly, might be regarded very properly as investment for the future. For such expenditures are undoubtedly increasing the natural and potential wealth of the nation. Thus they will show returns, in the long run, giving the nation a large profit on that investment.

Current running expenses of the government rightfully should be debited against the treasury balance. But acquired assets, whether by building or by expenditure of funds, should be credited as assets and thus offset a large portion of the debit side of the national ledger.

PRESBYOPIA.

Presbyopia is the name given by eye specialists to a form of vision impairment which comes in the later years of life. It is colloquially known as "old sight." Described in language of the layman, it is an increasing difficulty of aging eyes to focus, especially on nearby objects. It is shown by the tendency of people beyond the age of 40 to hold books of fine print at greater distances from the eye. Then it becomes necessary to wear glasses which magnify the print.

Young children possess a lens in the eye as clear as crystal and as elastic as live rubber. As age comes on the transparency of that lens remains but it gradually loses its elasticity, thus making it more difficult to focus immediately.

There need not, however, be any discouragement among older people when this vision condition begins. It need not impair their health or enjoyment of everything life has to offer. It should, however, serve as warning.

A regular visit, at least once a year, to a competent eye specialist is as important as regular physical examinations by a general physician. This does not mean a mere examination for glasses. The true eye physician performs a service much greater than that. He is trained to seek the causes for faulty conditions of the eye, to trace the disease, if disease there is, which has brought about the impairment in the function of vision. In thousands of cases the eye doctor has been the first to find symptoms of disease which, known and treated at this early stage, has been cured and has thus prevented possible later suffering and premature death.

The answer to the problem of "old sight," sums up into the desirability of regular examinations of the eyes and the probability, if this is done and the specialist's advice followed, of better health, greater enjoyment of all the beauties of life and a realization that it is easily within the range of probability to be able to say with truth, "Sight begins at Forty."

A college grid coach urges a fifth period this fall to break football ties. What!—and pay an amateur time-and-a-half for overtime?

The war on illiteracy, says an educational leader, has far to go. Figures show only 87 per cent of the populace has written this congress.

Among the spring appearances of Miss Sally Rand was one before a medical meeting. It was the good doctors' turn to say "Ahi!"

He who lives by the sword shall perish by the same, saith the Book, and it's a mere question of time before a rubber boundary line snaps back in a Caesar's face.

To get along with a snake, says a circus charmer, crouch to it. There is no question of sportsmanship when dealing with a snake.

A literary historian tells us Shakespeare once drove a cab. It seems implausible. There have been few complaints about the meter.

THE ROAD TO FASCISM

Whenever the disease and its resultant misery, growing out of economic upheavals, seemed incurable in many European countries, socialism was invariably prescribed as a sure cure for the ailment. Yet, of some 14 nations which applied this quack remedy, or its twin opiate, communism, practically all found the dosage worse than the disease. And its application left the patient in a more weakened condition than before. So the doctors, who had voluntarily been given control of the national economic clinic during the first experiment, decided a much more potent dose, fascism, was necessary if the patient was to be "saved."

The weakness of the popular remedy, socialism, was, of course, to be found in its utter impracticability. It depended entirely on a voluntarily submitted by the people to a certain set of theories. It pre-supposed the meeting of all elements, all minds, on common ground, in common council, in a spirit of equality, sharing and sharing alike.

But when it came to a practical demonstration, its advocates stumbled over the never-changing laws of human nature. It meant lowering the standards of living of the upper and middle thirds to bring the lower third up to the desired average. Nobody was willing to actually give up their hard-won resources toward the realization of such a goal, regardless of how they had previously talked.

It was human to want to go up, to stay up, not to slide back. Furthermore, there wasn't room at the top for all. This particular point had been overlooked during the theorizing. So, if the theory was to be put into actual practice it meant the employment of force, of fascism, the only method so far known for creating and maintaining complete planned economy.

So, the utopian dream, the voluntary submission to the enticing benefits of the perfectly planned state, ended in cruel dictatorship, where no opposition is tolerated, where a protest is punishable by death or life in a concentration camp. No labor unions to bargain collectively. No employers with which to bargain. No farm associations. All ruthlessly crushed by dictatorial swagbats along with the institution of free speech and a free press. All of the people, rich and poor, employer and employee, regimented into one, big, goose-stepping, unthinking whole.

The initial step in building such a state, be it noted, is to first get complete control. It must be done gradually. Socialism, the planned economy, was the palliative held out to the suffering people of Europe. Start with one cure. End with another. Once in control beat down the opposition. Opposition means democracy and nothing is so hated or feared in a planned economy as democracy. So beat down the opposition.

In Great Britain, the country considered by most Americans as coming closer to their political ideals than any other, the opposition is not only encouraged but paid by the government. Its leader has as important a place in the government as the leader of the administration. He is paid a salary by the government. He is expected to acquaint the people with the facts at issue by debating them step by step. And the prime minister who ignores this opposition, who refuses to answer questions raised in the house of commons by its leader, will soon be on the outside.

But, as astonishing as it may seem, the opposition in America, during a time of great economic distress, is being submitted to a new and most effective form of oppression. No matter how sincere, how honest it is in pointing out the dangers which have led other nations directly into dictatorship, it is promptly labelled reactionary, as being against all form of progress. Any program not advanced by the fair-headed favored is promptly and laughingly dismissed as not even being worthy of consideration. And the people are now witnessing the sorry spectacle, not unfamiliar in the Fascist countries of Europe, of the party in power sacrificing its own members to political expediency.

Perhaps there is a lesson to be learned from Hitler, Mussolini and others. Perhaps a regime can be made just as strong, just as impossible to unseat at the polls through subsidies, patronage and favors as by coercion and the fear of death and imprisonment. Both processes have been equally successful in stifling the opposition. Both methods are equally undesirable.

Abroad, Mr. Chamberlain continues to look realities squarely in the eye. He believes the Spanish war that was over in April and again in May should be stopped.

Editorial of the Day

CLARIFYING THE WAGNER ACT

(From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

In its 7-to-0 decision in the Mackay Radio & Telegraph Company case, approving a ruling of the National Labor Relations Board, the supreme court has again acted in accord with what appears to be the plain intent of the Wagner act.

The court's finding is that a worker who goes on strike remains an employee of his company, within the meaning of the act, and that his discharge for union activities is therefore an unfair labor practice. The court thus reverses a ruling of the ninth circuit court of appeals, and upholds the NLRB order directing the Mackay company to reinstate, with back pay, five strikers who were not taken back after the conclusion of the walk-out.

Obviously, if a worker who goes on strike automatically ceases to be an employee, then the right to strike is seriously impaired, if not destroyed. In that event, the labor act's protection would no longer be available for the very group it was intended to cover.

The Wagner act was designed to safeguard the right of labor to organize, to bargain collectively and to strike; that is, to use its economic power in an effort to improve its conditions. The supreme court decision in the Mackay case defines more clearly what constitutes a labor dispute and what constitutes discrimination.

The Wagner act is the law of the land, and the supreme court, through the Mackay and other decisions, is gradually clarifying its meaning and thereby assisting in its proper administration. This—the act having been held constitutional—is the full extent of the court's function.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

NAZI TAKE JEWS' BANK WASHINGTON, June 8.—The partners of M. M. Warburg & Co., of Hamburg, have resigned. The 150-year-old banking house has been taken over by the German state.

The news sounds much like other news from the reich, in these last years. To be sure, Max Warburg and his brother, Fritz, are old men, 72 and close on 70. To be sure, their firm has always played a large and honorable part in the commercial life of Germany. To be sure, the Nazi leaders have not been ashamed to use Max Warburg's wisdom, to guide them through the monetary mazes of sick European finance.

But they are Jews, Max and his brother, Fritz. It had been coming for a long time. Once before, a year or so ago, their resignation had been tentatively demanded. Always there were inquiries, espionage. Frau Warburg was brought close to the cracking point by the terror of the days and nights. And Max stayed, against the urgings of his friends, only because, he said, "If I go, what will my people think of me and must remain? And what will I do, a German, out of Germany?"

Yet when the storm troopers came, or the telephone from Berlin brought the resignation order, Max Warburg's mind must have flown sadly back, over the years, to the spring of 1919.

At Versailles, that spring of 1919, the crowds pressed hungrily around the Hotel Des Reservoirs. Guards marched to and fro along a makeshift iron fence, across the pavement, sun-flecked through the trees. The crowds murmured, as children will at zoos, when a strange new animal clings to the darkness at its cage's rear.

Within the hotel, among the raddled grandees of the tall rooms, the German delegates to the Versailles peace conference argued interminably. They might have been expected to disagree. Count Von Brockdorf-Rantzau, the foreign minister, a man of the old regime; Edward Duedel, the Socialist leader; the professional diplomat, Dr. Adolf Mueller; Herr Geisberg, the Prussian minister of posts and telegraphs—the handful of worried men seemed to represent every group in the defeated reich.

The subject of their discussion was simple. Would they sign the peace treaty? They had been brought under guard from Germany. They had learned the hard terms. They had rebelled.

And the man who stiffened their resistance was not Rantzau or Geisberg, Mueller or Duedel. He was the capper Jewish banker of Hamburg, Max Warburg. When the ultimatums from the allies were arriving almost every hour, when the pressure was at its worst, and the crowds at their most sullen, it was Max Warburg who pleaded and exhorted, reasoned and threatened. In the end, it was Max Warburg who won out.

Because of Max Warburg, a government of the reich resigned, a new government was formed, before men could be found to sign the treaty, the paper foundation of the Nazi cause.

REICH MINISTER DILLINGER The final destination of the masters of the reich have lost all shame in their anti-Semitism. And it is only one sign among many.

There is nothing especially heroic, for example, in the Baron Louis De Rothschild. He was the great Viennese banker, a man of the old regime. He did not suffer as his poorer depositors and investors did; rich men rarely lose all their fortunes.

Yet there is something shameful in the Nazi effort to use Baron Louis to extract ransom from his family. Soon after the invasion of Austria, he was captured, a rich prize. To the Rothschilds in Paris and London, word was sent that Baron Louis would be released at once—upon the payment of a sum said to be $25,000,000. The amount named was too low, even for the Rothschilds. And the master of the reich, like Dillinger, whose tactics they have borrowed, are still clutching their prize.

SHORT MORAL Such stories as these, such stories as the ransom of the great Freud, should teach a lesson.

Wherever prejudice shows itself, it must be stamped out, whether it be anti-Semitism, anti-Catholicism, or anti-Protestantism. There can be no compromise with intolerance. For, once prejudice gains a foothold, the Dillingers will soon prevail.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES

For man rides high
And man rides far,
Man tames the waves and the air,
For man feels kin
To the distant star
A gleam in the heavens fair.

The lightning flash
And the thunder roll
Save his hungry pride,
The only thing
He can't control
Is the tug of his heart, inside.

A Glimpse
At a Relief.

There are, it is stated, some eight or nine thousand people in Atlanta who are going hungry. Some get 10 cents a day, as their total income, from the relief offices. Others don't get a thing.

Here is a little story about one of them. It happens to be true. It is extremely interesting in the revelation it provides into the ethics and the viewpoints of a man on relief.

He is a negro. Quite old and very black. He had applied and applied at the relief offices, but they, having nothing, could do nothing. At last he was told of a kindly woman who might be able to help him.

When he reached this woman's back door neither he nor his wife nor any of his children had touched food for three days. The old negro was quite weak.

When the good woman spread some hot, strengthening food before him, he stood, trembling, took off his ragged hat and, before he ate, offered a simple, sincere prayer to the Giver of all good.

Sacks Full Of Food.

The charity-inclined woman filled two crocus sacks full of foodstuffs for the old negro to take home to his family. She thought they might be too heavy for him to carry and offered to find some means of getting them to the little shack he called home.

But he grinned and said: "What ah can't pote, ah can't cook and what ah can't cook ah can't eat."

So he toted it.

As he was leaving, the woman told him to bring back the sacks, as soon as convenient, as they didn't belong to her.

He was back with them at an early hour the following morning.

Then, by some luck, they found a job for the old man, on WPA. And he made another visit to his benefactress.

In Pennies, And Nickels.

When he received his first week's pay, he went back to the kindly woman who had helped him. And he counted out, slowly and laboriously, 83 cents in pennies and nickels.

He told her he knew he couldn't pay for the food she had given him. That had been a gift and accepted as such.

But would she, please ma'am, take the 83 cents and use it to buy food for the next folks what come by her house next hungry?

She took the money, but offered some more good eatables for him to carry home.

"No, ma'am," he said, "Ah's mekkin' a living for mah family, now. Ah don't hav ter acks no charity. No, thankee, ma'am."

And he walked, with an independent swing to his shoulders, down the street toward home.

That's One Provided For.

That negro and his family is one of the starving units in Atlanta society. He is provided for, so long as his WPA job lasts.

But don't forget the other thousands of families. There aren't kindly, generous women enough to feed them all. And if there were, should such women accept the responsibility, indefinitely?

I'm afraid it is our job. Yours and mine and our neighbors.

If you'd learn more exact details about the problem, call on the county relief headquarters on Pryor street. They'll tell you the story with statistics and human heartbreak, too.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From The Constitution of Monday, June 9, 1913:

"JESUP, Ga., June 8.—(Special) The streets of Jesup were the scene of a wild west holdup late last night when two local men with bad reputations ran amuck with a revolver and a walking stick. After breaking the stick over the heads of passers-by and holding up a boy, they were arrested and lodged in the city hall."

And Fifty Years Ago.

From The Constitution of Saturday, June 9, 1888:

DEBT.

"Pay what you owe," says the Talmud, "and you will know what you are worth."

The possession of a widow, whether she be rich or poor, should not be taken in pawn.

"Rather eat onions and sit in the shadow, and do not eat geese and poultry if it makes thy heart uneasy within thee."

"Say nothing of my debts unless you mean to pay them."

"It is better to pay and have but little left than to have much and be always in debt."

"To avoid debt, open not thy door too wide."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Pegler NEW YORK, June 8.—This is the day I eat a platter of crow. Frank Hague, the mayor of Jersey City, is as ruthless and dangerous as Huey Long was at his worst, and the gang of hoodlums politicians who serve him on the bench and in public office in northern New Jersey are the same kind who performed for Long in Louisiana.

Knowing that many of the so-called invaders of Jersey City and New York Communists who would only gain the power to suppress the rights of others, I have given aid and comfort to Hague. I have known him as a political figure for years and have met him a couple of times, and always, until now, regarded him as a familiar type of "dese," "dese" and "dem" local American political boss.

The graft in Jersey City is about the same, in proportion, as that in Louisiana and in Commendatore Tomaso Pendergast's Kansas City. Lunt, however, is not a matter of national concern, nor did it seem to me unreasonable that he should officially forbid speeches and demonstrations which would block traffic and might cause riots in the principal square of the town.

Moreover, his pressure on local property owners to prevent the Communists and other Reds from hiring halls in which to hold meetings seemed to be in line with the boycotts and secondary picketing by which his enemies regularly punish not only those who oppose them but innocent parties not even remotely connected with their fights.

I think this is dangerous practice, and unfair if not illegal, but it seemed inconsistent of Hague's opponents to protest when struck with their own whip.

Hague But when Hague turns out the national guard to march in a dictator's parade which blocks traffic in the very same public square that he was so careful to keep clear of other blockades, he is a worse menace than Stalin's men. It is the custom of the Communists in countries where they see distress reach a certain point to proselyte in the army and the police force, and they doubtless intend to try that here if they have not done so already.

But Hague, like Huey on many occasions in Louisiana, has taken over the troops, 700 of whom marched under arms behind Brigadier General William A. Higgins, who acted as grand marshal.

Hague already had the police force which is well equipped, well disciplined and brutal in its loyalty to the dictator, but that was another local matter. Every mayor is at least titular commander of the local police, and not many mayors require their cops to keep their tempers when the Communists spit in their faces, kick them and rip their clothes.

But Hague has now assumed command of the soldiers of the national guard, with their guns and ammunition, to serve as his personal army. It is a dangerous temptation which is well equipped, well disciplined and brutal in its loyalty to the dictator, but that was another local matter. Every mayor is at least titular commander of the local police, and not many mayors require their cops to keep their tempers when the Communists spit in their faces, kick them and rip their clothes.

WAGE-HOUR ISSUE ENTERS GEORGIA'S CONGRESS RACES

Wood and Boyd, in Fifth District, Divided Over Labor Measure.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Congressional candidates of two Georgia districts yesterday spotlighted the wage-hour bill controversy in Democratic primary campaign plans.

Two men seeking the fifth district seat of Representative Robert Ramspeck, whose compromise was accepted by congressional conferees, said:

C. L. Wood, College Park ice cream manufacturer: "I believe that southerners are entitled to as much pay for their labor as workers in any other section."

J. L. R. Boyd, Atlanta attorney: "To administer it and to set up exact, fair differentials would require the wisdom not yet accorded to man. If it fails of success it will wreck the Democratic party. Confidence cannot withstand another NIRA."

Wood delivered his views in a campaign address. Boyd issued a statement.

"Support of the progressive leadership and humanitarian principles of President Roosevelt" was pledged by Wood.

Cox Record Attacked. The second district race shaped up earlier, with Ira Carlisle, of Cairo, and W. J. Crowe, of Sylveston, firing at the record of Representative E. E. Cox, Democratic veteran who opposed wage-hour legislation and several other New Deal measures.

Crowe advocated a ceiling for hours and a floor for wages.

In an address this week at Macon, Representative Cox declared: "When the power is once established to dictate hours, pay and conditions of labor, control of production and distribution, then society as a 'living force' will die, and individual liberty will become but a glimmering memory."

In Washington, a joint congressional committee compromised conflicting opinions on the wage-hour legislation by agreeing to a 40-cent minimum for all interstate industries at the end of seven years, except where such a wage could cause unemployment.

It would set a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour for the first year, and 30 cents the following year.

The committee also agreed on a graduated scale of maximum hours, starting at 44 a week for the first year and dropping to 40 a week in the third year, as the second step in compromising wage-hour legislation.

George Supporters Heartened. The Iowa primary, in which incumbent Senator Gillette, occasional administration critic, was nominated over Congressman Otha

Puppy in the Well--But Pork Chops Effect Rescue

Ding, dong, dell! Puppy in a well! Who pulled her out? Clever young friends of "Mickie," beagle puppy, "Mickie" fell 40 feet to the bottom of a dry well. Her pals put a few pork chops into a coal scuttle, attached a flashlight to the scuttle, and then lowered the scuttle into the well. When hungry "Mickie" went for the pork chops, the scuttle was pulled up. Left to right are those who witnessed the rescue and re-enact just how it was accomplished. Katherine O'Callaghan, Clayton Hopper, holding the scuttle, and flashlight; Randolph Goulding, with Mickie, Ben O'Callaghan and Virginia Porter.

Wearin, who claimed White House support, was seen in some quarters as heartening to supporters of United States Senator Walter F. George. The latter, like Gillette, split with the Roosevelt administration on the supreme court revision plan and other measures, although supporting much New Deal legislation.

An "expression of confidence" in Senator George, who has three opponents for renomination, was voted at Savannah by delegates to a Georgia convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War in adoption of a resolution introduced by Past Commander Cecil R. Hall, of Atlanta.

Frank C. David, industrial school professor at Columbus, assumed the presidency of a newly organized Muscogee County George for Senator Club.

Hugh Howell, Atlanta attorney, who is one of three candidates opposing Governor Rivers for renomination, announced his major campaigning would start July 4 at Warrenton, where he attended school as a boy.

The occasion will be the Warren county homecoming.

Robert F. Wood, of Athens, another candidate for Governor, issued a statement expressing belief the New Deal will "be repudiated in Georgia on September 14."

"I am very happy to become an honorary member of the society," the senator said in a letter of acceptance, "thus establishing some connection with the distinguished men who during the past 137 years have made up its active membership."

Pork Chops in Coal Scuttle Save Hungry Puppy From 40-Foot Well

Boy Scouts Turn in Their Good Deed of Day When They Resourcefully Rescue "Mickie" for 12-Year-Old Virginia Porter.

A coal scuttle, a few pork chops and a flashlight combined yesterday to rescue a puppy from the bottom of a dry well 40 feet deep.

The puppy, a beagle named "Mickie," was missed Monday by her owner, Virginia Porter, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Porter, of 919 Williams Mill road.

Virginia and her playmates immediately began search for the animal. Yesterday, faint cries were heard under the back porch of the Porter home. Investigation revealed an abandoned well.

Clayton Hopper and Randolph Goulding, Boy Scouts, then buckled down to business. First, the part of the porch covering the well was torn out. Then the boys obtained the coal bucket, the flash-

Nearly $750,000 in new liquor revenues helped the schools.

A total of $1,054,883 from the stabilization fund has been allocated to schools since that source of revenue was provided in legislation enacted during the extra session of the general assembly last winter.

The act provided that a tithe of 10 per cent be levied on all non-allocated funds other than highway monies, and the funds thus derived be available to department requiring additional funds.

Another act, also approved during the extra session, authorized diversion of beer tax textbook funds for other purposes when such money was not actually required for books. The beer tax produced $1,240,055.50 between July 1, 1932, and May 31, 1933, the state auditor's office said. Part of this was used for salary payments.

SEIZURE OF LIQUOR REPORTED BY HEAD

24 Agents, Enforcing State Law, Fight Bootleg Activities.

Legalization of liquor by various Georgia counties under the state's new law, "while greatly reducing the sale of bootleg whisky, has not eliminated the bootleg problem," Revenue Commissioner Grady Head said yesterday.

Head's comment came with his release of the first consolidated report on work done by the 24 agents enforcing the act to tax and control spirits.

The commissioner appealed to "every law-abiding citizen who comes in contact with violators of the liquor act to furnish this department with such information." He declared the information would be held in strictest confidence.

27 Arrested.

The report of May activities showed 14 men assigned to raiding in the state at large instituted proceedings against 201 persons for violation of the liquor act; arrested 27; seized three automobiles, and 1,082 quarts, 167 fifths, 15,532 pints and 18,101 half pints of non-tax paid "red" liquor. Besides, they seized and destroyed 1,074 pints of "moonshine" liquor.

"To date in all trials on cases instituted by these men there have been no acquittals," he said.

10 Work With ATU.

The other 10 agents were assigned with the federal Alcohol Tax Unit. Six of the men began work May 18 and the other four May 29. These agents participated in seizure of 47 stills with a total capacity of 6,450 gallons and destruction of 19,750 gallons of mash.

The 10 agents also took part in the arrest of 30 persons and institution of proceedings against 35 in federal court. They made four state cases and participated in seizure of eight automobiles and 11,650 1-2 gallons of moonshine liquor.

Head emphasized work of his agents was "not independent of but in co-operation with the established law enforcement agencies" of the counties and municipi-

THIS MORNING

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

"The freeman casting with unpurchased hand The vote that shakes the turrets of the land."

To say that the votes of the millions who are on relief and the other millions who hold government jobs are purchased ones is to reflect unjustly upon those millions and upon the present administration. But no one can consider the principle and circumstances without seeing a genuine threat to the democratic process in this business of having so large a part of the electorate dependent upon jobs or relief upon those for whom they are asked to vote. If, as many believe, government relief is going to continue to engage a large percentage of the nation's citizens, a way will indeed have to be found for insuring a free electorate.

To solve the difficulty by saying that recipients of federal relief or employment may not vote would be to disfranchise so big a part of the electorate now that it would be neither wise nor possible. But certainly much can be done to diminish the threat that lies in the present situation. Civil service, greater secrecy of ballot and provision for a more scientific and non-partisan distribution of relief are three devices that suggest themselves.

It has always seemed to this column that talk of swapping freight differentials for wage differentials in the south is as meaningless as it is ornamental. Here is an interesting point of view on the subject by our friend Fitzgerald Hall, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway—we are additionally glad to print it because it represents the view of a southern railroad man and that is something always worth considering. "As to exchanging equality in freight rates for equality in wages and hours," Mr. Hall writes us, "there are two considerations to that."

In the first place, the average rate complained of is such a small factor that even if the railroads hauled many finished products free and the manufacturers had to pay the wages paid in the New York area, these southern concerns could not stay in business. The south would simply be sold down the river as far as any such

GOVERNMENT DRIFT STUDIED AT MERCER

Discussion of Changes and Tendencies Conducted at Macon Institute.

MACON, Ga., June 8.—(AP)—Discussion at the Mercer University Institute of Citizenship focused today on "government changes and tendencies."

The session was presided over by George D. W. Burt, of the Macon Telegraph and Macon Evening News. Principal speakers were Robert Troutman, Atlanta attorney, and Dr. Hoy Taylor, professor of social science at Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville.

The institute opened yesterday with talks by H. T. McIntosh, editor of the Albany Herald, and Orville Park, Macon attorney, on "Changing Economic Conditions and Their Implications on Citizenship."

McIntosh said "good citizenship is an atmosphere which surrounds good citizens at all times and we do not have a Utopia because we lack good citizens, but because there are so many bad ones."

Park discussed problems in the Georgia political system. "The majority of the political problems," he said, "grow out of the multitude of counties in this state."

GREENVILLE, Ga., June 8.—(AP)—Legislative candidates in Meriwether county have until July 1 to qualify for the September 14 Democratic primary, under a rule established by the county executive committee.

Five candidates have announced for the county's two house seats. J. Frank Hatchett, John J. Neely and Albert J. Barnes Sr., are seeking the post now held by Representative James S. Peters, of Manchester. Clarence Thompson is opposing the incumbent, R. A. McGraw, of Greenville, for the other seat.

Get at the Cause of Constipation!

You know that constipation often gives you that dopey, sunken, bogged down feeling. Why not get at the cause?
If you eat what most people do—things like bread, meat and potatoes—the chances are all that the matter with you is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean what you may think. It's a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines that aids elimination.
If this is your trouble, what you need is a dish of crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need, plus Nature's intestinal tonic, vitamin B, and iron.
Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and see if the old world doesn't look a lot brighter! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Blind Father "Soft-Pedals" His Struggle

'My Inspiration Right Here,' He Says, Patting Heads of Babies.

A blind man with a blind wife who is rearing a family of three children in spite of handicaps is one of the first entries in The Constitution contest to name Atlanta's most unusual father.

He is M. M. Spinks, 41, of 480 Bryan street, who refuses to regard blindness as an obstacle to a normal life. In fact, his only complaint is high blood pressure which keeps him from doing as much as he would like to provide for his dependents.

He has for years peddled trinkets from door to door, often covering as many as 10 or 12 miles a day.

In his opinion, Spinks does not classify as an "unusual father."

He met his wife while they were attending the Academy for the Blind at Macon. They were married 10 years ago.

"Inspiration Right Here." The children are Henry, 8, now in high third grade at the Slaton school; Carrie Lillian, 3, and Juliette, the baby, who is 16 months old. All are normal, healthy and happy.

"My inspiration is right here," he said yesterday, patting the two youngest seated with him on a sofa. "I've never given up hope and I don't intend to. After all, nothing matters but the will to keep going."

"I haven't done half enough for the kids yet," he said, "and I've just got to take care of them until they are old enough to take care of themselves."

The Constitution is asking readers to send in other nominations for the "most unusual father" title and $1 will be paid for each suggestion used as the basis for a story. They must be in writing and must be received before midnight, June 16. The winner will be announced June 18.

Father's Day Originator Here. Indorsement of the contest was expressed yesterday by Harry Meek, of Chicago, the originator of the Father's Day idea, and who is visiting in Atlanta.

"I am naturally in favor of any plan which will help to bring service to a wider Father's Day observance," he said, "and it is my hope that the public will support The Constitution's contest 100 per cent."

Meek said he got the idea for Father's Day back in 1917 when his own father, now dead, jokingly remarked that mothers received all the attention and fathers none.

At that time, he was president of the Uptown Lions Club of Chicago, and later, with the help of a national Lions convention, the plan was put into operation. President Harding and President Coolidge gave it their approval and the observance since has spread to Canada, Mexico and other countries.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 8.—(AP)—George M. Shutt, 74, former president of the New York Cotton Exchange, died today of a heart attack.

Chick Chick, Here, Chick Chick There—Not Now!

OCALA, Fla., June 8.—(UP)—This was feast night in Ocala's negro section.

City Manager E. P. Clark reported the rear door of a truck opened while it was being driven over rough streets in the negro section. Two hundred chickens got out without the driver knowing it. None of the chickens had been located.

Eye Is a Radio Station, 'Professor' Tells Court Here About 'Iriology'

Accused of Practicing Medicine Without License, J. B. Levine Charges Conspiracy by 75,000 Doctors Against 'Greatest Discovery.'

Man is a machine with eyes that act as a radio station, emitting waves from electrical impulses of certain bodily organs, J. B. Levine, who termed himself a professor of "iriology"—"science's greatest discovery"—told a Fulton criminal court jury yesterday.

Levine, on trial charged with practicing medicine in Georgia without a license, told the jury he is a victim of "75,000 doctors organized in this country to stop anything new."

The Philadelphia health lecturer's statement climaxed a day of testimony in which the defense brought out that Levine reiterated in his lectures that he was not a physician and did not diagnose or prescribe cures for human ailments.

"Fake," Says Eskridge. Levine took the stand in defense of "iriology" after Dr. Frank Eskridge, of the Fulton County Medical Society, had termed it a "fake" and ridiculed the theory of different diets for persons with different color eyes.

Dr. C. A. Caven, president of the County Medical Society, had previously testified Levine's lectures constituted the practice of medicine. It was charged that Levine was recommending diets and treatments for ailments without obtaining a license from the state.

In his statement, Levine admitted he had used the term "medical rats" in a lecture recently at a downtown hotel where he had been arrested and warned to cease his lectures.

He then said that throughout history, new discoveries have been ridiculed and the medical profession now was lining up against "iriology."

"Think of the eye as a clock," he told the jury. He said certain "spokes" in the eye indicated injuries to certain organs.

"Iriology" Explained. "Iriology" classes persons under four types, Levine said. "Brown-eyed persons should not eat the same foods as persons with green, gray or perhaps blue eyes," he added. He said he promised nothing in his lectures but merely taught persons what to eat to stay healthy.

Defense Attorney Star Peck called more than half a dozen witnesses who have attended the professor's health lectures. They testified he has revealed to them "amazing" facts about their injuries after reading signs in their eyes.

Solicitor John McClelland, in cross-examination brought out that persons were "typed" as the "pineapple type" or the "orange type" and other similar "types." Mrs. H. L. Solomanson, of 928 North Highland avenue, said she had been classified as the "orange" type and that oranges were the only citrus fruit recommended for her type.

She testified that in the lectures Levine went through the alphabet naming certain foods to be eaten by certain types. She said his lectures, however, were general and he recommended no particular cure.

One witness testified she heard Levine refer to being "framed by medical rats" following his indictment by the Fulton county grand jury May 13.

Final arguments will begin today. Levine went on trial Tuesday.

PAROLED SLAYER MURDERS WOMAN

Knives Bookkeeper Then Takes Own Life.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 8.—(UP)—A paroled murderer today knifed to death his brother's bookkeeper and took his own life.

The bodies of Alfred A. Koschny, 45, and Miss Grace McPherson, 36, were found by William Koschny when he returned to his plumbing shop.

Koschny, police said, was paroled about five years ago after serving part of a sentence of 23 years meted him after he was found guilty of second degree murder in the deaths of Mrs. Margaret Sullivan Pike, a divorcee, and her two-year-old son, Robert, in 1922.

Police and Medical Examiner Butler were unable to explain the motive, but said it might have been the result of an infatuation as were the murders of Mrs. Pike and the boy.

MIDDLE GEORGIA PUSHES DINING HALL

Building, To Cost $34,000, Nears Completion on Cochran Campus.

The dining hall building at the Middle Georgia College, Cochran, is nearing completion, according to an announcement made today by Chancellor S. V. Sanford. The cost of construction of this building is $34,000, of which the regents are furnishing 55 per cent and PWA 45 per cent.

Increased enrollment at Middle Georgia College made necessary the construction of the building. The 1937 fall enrollment was 345, compared with 293 in 1933. The institution is one of six junior colleges maintained by the state board of regents. It has high scholastic requirements and is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges, the highest accrediting agency in the south, and it also is a member of the American Association of Junior Colleges and the Georgia Association of Junior Colleges. The course of study is designed to prepare students for home economics or commercial work, and also for the senior units of the University System.

In 1936, the regents completed a 60-room dormitory for boys at a cost of $75,000, and a central heating plant costing $20,000. There now is pending in Washington an application for another building costing $28,000. With the completion of this building, the college will have educational facilities comparable to the best junior colleges in the south.

The present enrollment of the University System is 11,572. The enrollment in the 1937 summer school was 6,013. Last year the University System gave campus instruction to almost 18,000 students.

Commencement at Princeton will begin Friday, June 17. A house vote will determine whether Representative Jenks, Republican, New Hampshire, is entitled to retain his place in congress or whether Alphonse Roy, Democratic nominee, of Manchester, N. H., should be seated.

A house elections committee recommended removal of Jenks and the seating of Roy. The contest has been pending since January, 1937, when Jenks took the oath of office after being certified by New Hampshire state officials.

COLLINS DESCRIBES SCHOOLS PROGRAM

State Superintendent Speaks at Mercer University Rural Life Meeting.

MACON, Ga., June 8.—(AP)—"The hearts of the people of Georgia are sound toward educational development and financing," Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools for Georgia, said in an address today before the rural life conference of the Baptist Church Efficiency school in session at Mercer University.

The state appropriation for education was raised from $4,564,000 to $9,256,000 this year, Dr. Collins brought out in his talk, and he said next year's allotment will be $9,637,000, plus near $3,000,000 for school books and another $3,000,000 from the equalization fund derived from gasoline and kerosene taxes.

"The new program in Georgia is flexible and easily adaptable to the diverse school situations throughout the state," he continued.

"The principle which is basic in the schools of Georgia is for every child to learn that to live under the American constitution is the greatest privilege that was ever given an individual."

Mrs. F. W. Armstrong, president of the Women's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Convention, the next speaker, stressed the importance of women in the missionary program of the church.

AUGUSTAN NAMED MILK SUPERVISOR

State Director Duncan Silent on Release of Justin B. Powell.

Director Charles Duncan, of the State Milk Control Board, said yesterday he had appointed Wilson Gordon, of Augusta, as temporary supervisor of the Macon and Cordele offices, succeeding Justin B. Powell.

Gordon will continue in charge of the Augusta area, Duncan said. The director declined to say why Powell was being relieved at Macon and Cordele.

The board will meet at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to consider price orders for the Columbus and Waycross milk sheds. Duncan said he understood Powell planned to appear with an appeal on his dismissal. He said Powell would be given a hearing if he requested it.

Meanwhile, in Macon, Chairman Linton M. Solomon entered a meeting of the Bibb county milk shed area advisory board this afternoon armed with copies of correspondence between Powell and Director Duncan. He said the consensus of opinion of board members and Bibb area producers was one of regret at the loss of Powell.

Powell refused to amplify the reasons for his break with the state body, but indicated it was because of an exception taken by Duncan to a letter Powell wrote "calling certain matters to the board's attention."

College Drama Standards Higher, Georgia Theater Director Holds

Productions Have Climbed From Amateur to Professional Rank in Last 10 Years, According to Edward C. Crouse.

College drama has climbed, from amateur to professional standards in the last 10 years in the opinion of Edward C. Crouse, director of the University of Georgia Theater, which will open the first university production ever presented outside Athens in the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

"I believe that the college entertainment has heretofore and will continue to improve, especially in the southeast," said Crouse.

Discussing the improvement in the caliber of the plays given by college casts he cited the increasing trend toward producing shows which have met with success on Broadway by American collegiate groups.

"The University Theater has never taken a production on tour before," he said. "If the Atlanta performance of our spring comedy, 'The Vinegar Tree,' is a success we plan to carry all three of the plays produced in Athens each year to Atlanta, and possibly later good plays are in demand," to other southern cities where the Crouse declared.

The director, young in years but old in experience, looked at the pictures of scenes from successful productions under his directorship in the past seven years and began to list some of them.

Well-known plays. "Eugene O'Neill's 'Ah Wilderness,' and George Kaufman's 'June Moon,' shown in the movies under the title 'Blond Trouble,' were both done in the last two years," he said. "Other well-known plays which have been done by the group include 'Once in a Lifetime,' 'The Cat and the Canary,' and the immortal 'Ten Nights in a Barroom,'" he said.

Crouse says the improvement at the University of Georgia is typical of the trends all over the country in college entertainment. Playing to more critical audiences, made so by the movies, collegiate drama must improve or die out and it is improving rapidly, he said.

39,224,711 TREES PLANTED IN SOUTH

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 8.—(AP)—W. A. Hartman, chief of the Agriculture Department's southern land utilization division, announced today his organization had planted 39,224,711 trees on 34,572 sub-marginal acres in Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina in the last three years.

Hartman's figures showed 9,408,066 seedlings planted in the last season on 8,664 acres in the four states in the department's program to restore to production poor or worn-out acreage not suited to profitable farming operations.

Of the 1938 plantings, 347,370 were on 301 acres in two Georgia projects. These included 5,000 on four acres near Cornelia and 342,370 on 297 acres near Waycross.

Rains of Past Week Helped State Crops, Minding Says.

Continued mild, partly cloudy weather is in prospect for the Atlanta area today, the United States Weather Bureau predicted last night.

Temperatures yesterday ranged from a minimum of 65 to a maximum of 81 degrees and today's extremes are expected to be about 60 and 82.

Rainfall ranging from two-tenths of an inch to half an inch soaked most of the state during the past week and proved helpful to virtually all types of crops, George W. Minding, Atlanta weatherman, said yesterday.

Sweet potatoes, tobacco, peanuts, peaches and truck crops found the weather favorable, Minding said, with fair to good quality reported in nearly all leading producing areas.

Cotton, despite inroads by the boll weevil in southern counties, was reported forming squares as far north as Fort Valley and blooming farther south.

Corn, wheat and oats were said to be satisfactory, with wheat being harvested, oats nearing full growth.

WELFARE BOARD PLANS BUILDING

18 Projects To Cost Five Million Planned
by Body.

The State Board of Public Welfare last night mapped a program for utilizing funds approximating $5,000,000 it hopes to receive for repairing and building additions to the state's eleemosynary institutions.

Some 18 building projects were contemplated by the board in a session that began at 10:30 o'clock and continued late last night.

Governor Rivers has application for $4,000,000 pending before the Works Progress Administration, which would be subject to release with passage of congressional lending-spending legislation.

Rentals Discount.
To supplement this would be about $1,150,000 to be received for buildings from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation through discount of rentals of the state-owned Western & Atlantic Railroad.

Governor Rivers yesterday moved to speed receipt of the discount funds. Assistant Attorney General Ellis Arnall was appointed to act for the state in drawing an agreement with the RFC. Rental warrants totaling $3,240,000 are to be discounted by RFC at 31-2 per cent interest.

The Governor said this would net approximately $2,300,000, half of which is earmarked for the building program to match the expected funds from WPA. The other half will be distributed equally among the 159 counties for educational and court purposes. Each county is expected to receive about $8,000.

Senators Russell and George announced in Washington the RFC had agreed to waive a requirement that the discount plan be delayed until approved by the Georgia supreme court and to grant a refund of one-half of one per cent of the annual discount rate if the rental warrants were paid promptly.

Rivers said this would save the state about $150,000.

$25,000 IS SOUGHT IN TERMINAL DEATH

Suit of Alabamian, Who Lost Wife, Charges Hotel Was Firetrap.

Suit for $25,000 damages for the death of his wife, Mrs. Geneva Poole, in the Terminal hotel fire May 16, was filed in Fulton superior court yesterday against Mrs. Nellie Inman Cooper, as owner, and Burke Kinney, as lessee.

The suit, filed by George T. Poole, of Birmingham, charges that the building was a "veritable firetrap," constructed of "combustible and highly inflammable material."

Poole charges that "negligence of the defendants" was responsible for the death of his 36-year-old wife, in that building did not comply with a city ordinance of April 20, 1908.

There were no iron or steel beams, columns or girders in the building, as required by the ordinance; none of the partitions in the building were of incombustible material and none of the partitions were supported by steel construction or fireproof arches, the action charged. Attorneys Clint W. Hager, J. F. Kemp and Louis Silberman filed the action.

Some Day They May Be Autographing, Too

Atlanta youngsters who will appear in the 1938 Kiddie Revue yesterday received an autographed picture from Jane Withers, the Atlanta juvenile movie star who appeared in one of the first Kiddie Revues. This year's revue will open Friday at the Grand theater under sponsorship of the Atlanta Masonic Club. It is held annually for the benefit of the Scottish Rite Crippled Children's milk fund.

REHEARSALS START FOR KIDDIE REVIEW

Show Will Begin Tomorrow in Drive To Aid Crippled Children.

Besides the honor of being in the Atlanta Kiddie Revue, there are other and more tangible awards.

During the week of the revue, which starts tomorrow at Loew's Grand theater, the participants will have refreshments provided for them. James D. Henry is chairman of the refreshment committee.

This is the 10th annual edition of the revue. In past years such famous youngsters as Jane Withers and Dixie Dunbar have taken part. The production is sponsored by the Atlanta Masonic Club, as a benefit for the milk fund of the Scottish Rite hospital for Crippled Children. Besides the hour's stage entertainment, Loew's Grand will present "Hold That Kiss" on the screen.

For the four days before the opening, 200 children are undergoing rehearsals.

Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. yesterday commended Atlanta Masons for their work in behalf of crippled children, and wished them success with the Kiddies.

Revue, which opens tomorrow at Loew's theater.

His letter to Lionel Keene, general chairman of the milk fund committee, follows:

"I wish to take this opportunity to extend my best wishes for the success of the undertaking of the Atlanta Masonic Order in sponsoring the Benefit Fund For Crippled Children at the Scottish Rite hospital.

"I consider this one of the noblest and most unselfish movements that has ever come to my attention. For the past ten years this benefit has received the whole-hearted support of our people, and I am sure the response will be even greater upon its tenth anniversary."

RIVERS ADDRESSES PRESS CONVENTION AT FIRST SESSION

Urges Editors Support Three-Point Program for Georgia.

By HERMAN HANCOCK, Staff Correspondent.

SWAINSBORO, Ga., June 8.—Governor Rivers tonight sought "full and unstinted support" of members of the Georgia Press Association in a three-point program for development of Georgia, which he characterized as "mandatory, imperative and urgent."

Ignoring politics as such, the Governor insisted that the following three achievements are vital to Georgia's future development:

1. Elimination of adult illiteracy to save Georgians $30,000,000 in lost revenues because of low earning power of the state's 214,000 persons who can neither read nor write.

2. Creation of 1,000-acre tracts in every one of the state's 159 counties as recreation resorts, wild life sanctuaries and forestry preserves.

3. Establishment of co-operative marketing facilities in each county to provide a ready market for perishable products "to which the Georgia farmer has turned because of the federal farm program."

"Statistics show, that the earning powers of a person who can neither read nor write is $150 less a year than if he could," Rivers told editors as he made the opening address at the 52d annual convention of the Georgia Press Association meeting here.

"There are 214,000 illiterates in Georgia. That means we are losing more than $30,000,000 a year in income because of illiteracy."

A recent survey conducted by authorities lists the names and addresses of all persons who are illiterates. That means that for the first time in history we are able to attack this problem intelligently.

"I want the co-operation of the editors of Georgia newspapers in eliminating illiteracy altogether by the time of the 1940 census, or at least reducing to the vanishing point."

200,000 More in School.

"It is a coincidence that the issuance of free school books put about 200,000 children in Georgia classrooms who heretofore could not afford to buy books. That is just about the same number of illiterates disclosed by the survey. In other words, we in Georgia have just about been perpetuating our illiterates. Our only problem now, however, is to eliminate adult illiteracy, and then we will have made real progress."

"The federal government has agreed to help us by providing up to 1,500 teachers in our fight to abolish adult illiteracy. Already about 900 have been assigned to the work."

"The $30,000,000 we are losing in earnings every year is just about double the value of the tobacco crop annually. We want to eliminate this illiteracy by the 1940 census because the educational standing of a state is governed largely by the percentage of illiterates, which at present is about 7 per cent in Georgia, a figure far too high."

"A second thing about which I am concerned is provision of adequate recreational facilities for our people, we want every county to give 1,000 acres of its best and choicest land to the state for establishment of recreational centers as a furtherance of the work of the State Department of Natural Resources and the State Planning Commission."

The address was well received by scores of editors and others who flocked to the beautiful Community House, where the first meeting was held.

Hotels were filled to overflowing and private homes were made available to editors because of the large number who arrived for the opening address.

'The Most Eligible Bachelor' Takes a Bride

Acme Telephoto.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, often called "America's most eligible bachelor," yesterday married Manuela Hudson, a fellow horse racing enthusiast, in simple ceremonies at his mother's home at Sands Point, N. Y. The romance began seven months ago at the Santa Anita race track in California and the couple has been together at many subsequent races. Vanderbilt, 25, is the heir to a $20,000,000 fortune.

member of the board of regents of the University System of Georgia and president of the association, called the convention to order. The exercises were held on the terrace of the Community House, because of hot weather, and also because of the large crowd.

Cloudy weather failed to deter the editors, and the terrace itself was taxed to accommodate them. The Rev. Charles S. Durden, pastor of the First Baptist church of Swainsboro, delivered the invocation.

Mayor Frank Mitchell was introduced and made a welcome address in which he praised Georgia editors for their service to the state. He told them "the hospital doors of our city are open to you; have a good time and come back again."

McGinty Responds.

Vice President J. Roy McGinty, of the Calhoun Times, Calhoun, made the response.

State President John B. Spivey introduced Governor Rivers, who then stressed humanitarian accomplishments already made and "called for more concerted efforts in behalf of the underprivileged."

Editor Wensley Hobbs, of the Swainsboro Forest-Blade, assisted by Guy Alford, who also is chairman of the local committee on arrangements, issued a special 24-page Georgia press edition stressing forestry and forestry products in an effort to stimulate interest in this industry throughout Georgia. A long editorial on the delight of Swainsboro citizens at being hosts to the convention.

Among other features was an account of the first meeting of the association in Augusta in 1886. The editor Alfred Herrington, of The Blade, was present.

Serious work will start tomorrow.

President Moore will make his annual address tomorrow morning, to be followed by James C. Seymour, field manager of the association, who will speak on "What the Central Office is Planning."

Dr. Charles H. Herty, Savannah scientist, who developed the processing of newsprint paper from pine and other southern-grown pulps, will speak on "Progress in the Manufacture of Newspaper From Georgia Pines."

Hal M. Stanley, veteran executive secretary, will call the roll of all editors who have been members of the organization for 50 years and who will be presented with a button in recognition of his services.

T. K. Hay, assistant United States district attorney, will speak on "Label Laws in Georgia."

The afternoon will be devoted to an inspection tour of the plantation of Jim Fowler, of Trustee county, where editors will get first-hand information on how pines are cut for production of wood pulp, and the entertainment features will follow at night.

OFFICERS MASSES TO TRAP ROBBERS

Two Bank Holdups Net Band $25,000.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 8.—(P)—Louisiana and Arkansas officers massed armed forces in northwest Louisiana and south Arkansas today in a drive to capture Floyd Hamilton, escaped Texas convict and companion, suspected by officers of raising two banks and escaping with approximately $25,000.

The number of men in the robber gang was undetermined. Yesterday the bank of Bradley, Ark., was robbed of $685 by three men who locked James Meek, assistant cashier, in the vault.

The gang next robbed on this morning inside of the Minden Bank and Trust Company at Minden, La., before opening time, overpowered the president of the bank, J. E. Harper, and every employee who entered, and stole the bank's money, estimated by Harper at $25,000.

VANDERBILT WEDS RACING ENTHUSIAST

Heir to $20,000,000 Fortune Marries Niece of Seabiscuit's Owner.

NEW YORK, June 8.—(P)—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, one of America's wealthiest young men, was married in a simple ceremony today to Manuela Hudson, of California, who shares his enthusiasm for the turf and his dislike of "fuss and feathers."

The 25-year-old heir to a $20,000,000 fortune who is owner of a huge racing stable, wore a blue serge suit. His auburn-haired bride, daughter of George Hudson, a San Francisco attorney, preferred a dusky pink spectator sports dress to bridal finery.

There were only a few guests, who drank a champagne toast afterward and shattered their glasses. The newlyweds left by Clipper plane for a honeymoon in Bermuda.

Vanderbilt, owner of the great handicap horse, Discovery, and racing's top money winner in 1935, is a grandson of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, ruler of Newport and New York society.

The romance began at Santa Anita seven months ago. Their mutual interest in racing brought them together again at turf meets over the country. The bride is a niece of Charles S. Howard, who owns the race horse Seabiscuit.

The couple will live in a large house, under construction at Sagamore farm in Maryland with a sweeping view of the valley.

It is there that Vanderbilt's horses are bred and trained, and there he spends much of his time. He took over the Sagamore racing string once controlled by his mother on his 21st birthday.

For clothes he cares little, and prefers early morning turf work-outs to late parties.

Flame-Throwers Fighting Beetles; Pest Reappears in Georgia County

Colored Movies of White-Fringed Insect Being Shown in Southern Portion of State To Warn Farmers; Larvae Do Damage.

With the appearance of white-fringed beetles emerging from fertile soil of southern Alabama and north Florida reported yesterday, M. S. Yeomans, Georgia entomologist, said last night that these beetles have reappeared in Thomas county, Georgia. Yeomans said they were found last fall in Thomas county, but too late in the season to determine how numerous they were.

He said that his department, with the co-operation of the United States Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine is planning an intensive survey of the state to determine the exact spread of the insects.

Show Colored Movies.

Colored movies of the beetles at work, made by Yeomans' department, are now being shown through lower Georgia counties, and in Alabama and Louisiana, to acquaint farmers with the appearance and habits of the pest.

Meanwhile Associated Press dispatches from Alabama and Florida points last night told of a determined warfare being waged against this new and vicious enemy of southern crops.

Federal and state scientists, using flame-throwers, poisons and a trench system larger than that of a major war between men, continued their campaign of extermination that began when the beetle appeared to be major menace last year.

HOOVER BEACHING BLAMED ON SPEED

Most of Crew Exonerated of Drunkenness Charges by Inquiry Board.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(P)—The Commerce Department today blamed misjudgment of currents and excessive speed for the disastrous beaching of the passenger liner President Hoover on a Japanese island last December 10.

The official report, however, exonerated most of the crew of charges that drunkenness was rampant while the seamen and 700 passengers waited on the island of Hoisho, near Formosa, for rescue.

Two crew members were convicted of misconduct and six others, unidentified, were declared guilty, along with "a small minority" of the passengers. An official board of inquiry also said some of the crew members looted baggage.

Both the board and R. S. Field, director of the Marine Inspection Bureau, asserted that although mistakes were made in handling the ship they did not justify disciplinary action. George W. Yandley, captain of the Hoover, died five months after the loss of his ship.

The board attributed the stranding directly to an inaccurate estimate of the current, while Field added that the speed of 19.7 knots was excessive in view of the visibility conditions.

After praising the conduct of the crew for the successful removal of the passengers from the disabled vessel, the board commented:

"Relative to the conduct of the passengers, it has been established to the satisfaction of the board that a small minority of them did conduct themselves in an unbecomingly manner."

"Testimony . . . indicated that the decorum of some of the passengers was not above reproach and that several were intoxicated."

STRIKE PARALYZES PORTLAND HOTELS

Walkout Called as Rose Festival Opens.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 8.—(P)—Striking hotel employees walked out of Portland hotels at 5:30 p. m. today, paralyzing the city's hotel-ries on the opening day of the annual rose festival.

Eight of the city's largest hotels were affected. The union said 1,250 to 2,000 employees were involved.

The dispute arose when hotel unions sought recognition from operators as bargaining agencies for all employees. The hotel association demanded an accounting to determine whether a majority of workers wanted the union executive committee to control bargaining.

A strike against restaurant employees, estimated at 3,000, was forestalled when the union agreed to arbitrate a wage dispute.

He observed that the members apparently had taken better care of themselves. Ordinary colds dropped 20 per cent below last year, he said.

Discussing Help for Cotton Producers

Proposals for improving the condition of the southern cotton grower were studied yesterday by those officials as they attended the annual meeting of the Georgia Cotton Producers' Association. S. S. Johnson, left, of Silver Creek, president of the association, discusses the problem with D. W. Brooks, general manager and secretary-treasurer, while P. K. Norris, standing, marketing specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture, listens.

American Method of Baling Cotton Hurts Sales, Expert Says Here

Growers Urged To Improve Marketing Practice Through Co-operative Enterprises at Producers' Annual Meeting.

A plea for southern cotton growers to improve their marketing practices through co-operative enterprises was voiced yesterday by speakers at the annual meeting of the Georgia Cotton Producers' Association at 746 Glenn street.

Approximately 200 farmers from various parts of the state heard cotton experts point to increased foreign competition and urge closer co-operation in an effort to save the south's principal crop.

Criticism Packaging.

P. K. Norris, senior marketing specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture, attacked American methods of packaging the product, declaring "our bales are ill-shaped, poorly covered and unattractive."

"We must produce a bale that is as attractive as the foreign bale if we want to keep on selling cotton in foreign countries," he said.

He explained that foreign bales are, on the whole, neat, uniform in size and shape, attractive and completely covered, while American bales are scantily covered, some parts of the sides having no covering at all and the bagging on a good many of the bales so badly cut and torn that it gives little or no protection.

Reason for Slovenliness.

The principal reason for the condition of American bales, he said, is that no one has a financial interest in protecting the appearance of the bales or the quality of the lint after it leaves the gin.

As the cotton passes from one buyer to the other the bale may be cut several times, he continued, but the owner does not object since it will soon be out of his hands.

"If the farmers of the south are to maintain their foreign markets they must meet this competition by using similar or even better methods of packing and handling," he asserted.

Urges 1-Inch Growth.

Nowhere does he believe that growers in the United States should produce more 1-inch cotton they would be in a better position to compete with those foreign countries that are now supplying former customers of this country.

The average in the south is 7-8 inch.

The recent increases in foreign production of cotton, he said, are largely reflected by increases in five leading cotton-growing countries, namely, India, China, Russia, Egypt, and Brazil.

He traced the history of cotton growth in the United States and declared that increases in foreign countries during recent years are not entirely accidental.

"We find in the older cotton-growing countries that plans and efforts have been made for years to increase production either by the expansion of acreage or the improvement of yields," he said.

D. W. Brooks, general manager and secretary-treasurer of the association, said plans are now under way to provide warehouses in key cities throughout the state to accommodate the 32,000 members of the association. Warehouses have already been acquired in Carrollton and Dawson, he said.

He criticized the recent congressional investigation of the American Cotton Co-operative Association and charged the investigation was directed by those who were fighting co-operatives.

Upon being informed yesterday that a senate committee had exonerated the American association by a vote of 11 to 2, members of the Georgia group adopted a resolution expressing their appreciation to the senate committee. The

BOY GROCER-SLAYER DENIED NEW TRIAL

Defense Plans Appeal to Supreme Court, Delaying Execution.

MARIETTA, Ga., June 8.—Judge J. H. Hawkins of Cobb superior court late today handed down a decision here denying a new trial to Sam J. Wheat Jr., 19, convicted of the hold-up slaying of W. W. Capes Sr., 77, Austell grocer.

George Anderson, counsel for Wheat, said an immediate appeal, in the form of a bill of exceptions to the judge's decision, will be filed with the Georgia supreme court. He said the defense has 20 days in which to file the appeal, and this will automatically delay Wheat's execution, originally set for Friday.

Wheat has been confined in Cobb county jail here since his conviction in April. He allegedly confessed to a series of robberies, holdups and thefts, including the Austell holdup in which Mr. Capes was fatally shot. He was arrested in January in Camden, N. J., and returned to Georgia.

Frigh killed one man and drove another to insanity. Fear of pestilence among overcrowded refugees caused doctors at the Nuvla village camp to take stern sanitary measures. They declared water unsafe for drinking.

A great outburst of steam and flaming lava came thundering from the volcano late in the afternoon. Residents, harassed by the constant rumbling, rushed from their homes.

WASHINGTON PAPER BACKS DIXIE'S FIGHT ON UNFAIR RATES

Equal Wages Should Be Followed by Equal Rail Charges, It Says.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Commenting on the south's fight to shake itself free of unfair freight rates, the Washington Daily News in a lead editorial insists that if a wage-hour bill is to be enacted by the congress, to be applied nationally, then the country's freight rate structure should be national and not regional.

"If minimum wage standards," the editorial said, "are to be made national instead of regional, say southerners and westerners in congress, then something should be done to make the freight rate structure national instead of regional. Transportation costs as well as wage costs determine a manufacturer's ability to sell his product in competitive markets."

"The southerners and westerners, we think, have a good argument. And we are glad to note that their leaders in congress have begun to place more emphasis on wiping out freight differentials and on freezing wage differentials by law."

"The lawmakers of the south and west have made concessions to the point where the fight over the wage-hour bill no longer revolves around the proposal to fix a national base pay at 25 cents an hour for the first year. Spokesmen for the south and west insist that they must have wage differentials operating in their favor until the freight differentials which operate against them are wiped out."

"Nor can they be blamed for their stand. For it is a fact that existing freight rates not only act as a barrier to the movement of southern and western products into the large markets of the north and east, but also give some northern and eastern competitors an advantage in tapping the markets of the south and west."

This has been the contention of Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Atlanta, now engaged as one of the house conferees on the wage-hour bill; Representative Eugene E. Cox, of Camilla, and other Georgia congressmen who have been fighting for some equitable freight rates in the south for years.

CONFEREES ADOPT WAGE-HOUR REPORT

mine whether workers would, in fact, be displaced.

Otherwise, the scheme called for a rigid and unchangeable rate of 25 cents the first year and 30 cents the second. During the succeeding five years the industrial boards, under an administrator in the labor department, would fix the wage to be paid by each industry at some point from 30 to 40 cents. The administrator would be instructed to advance the scale to 40 cents as rapidly as possible.

As a concession to the south, the bill would provide that during these five years, the boards and the administrator would take into consideration local living costs, prevailing rates of pay and other factors. Seven years after passage, however, only an absolute showing that unemployment would result could excuse an industry from paying 40 cents.

40 Hours in 3 Years. After approving this formula, the conferees decided upon maximum hours dropping from 44 in the first year to 40 in the third. Employers would be required to pay time and a half for overtime.

Ellender declined to say whether the new wage-hour program would be opposed with a filibuster. But, as the conferees were breaking up today, he emphatically told Senator Thomas, Democrat, Utah, chairman of the conferees committee:

"I will not vote for any bill wherein a time limit is fixed for reaching 40 cents."

Disappointed in Thomas, Ellender told reporters he was "disappointed" in Senator Thomas. He said that after the senate-house conferees committee agreed to a compromise containing no time limit, Thomas was instrumental in having a time limit inserted.

Senator Pepper said at the close

NO DIFFERENTIALS, WALSH DECLARES

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(P) Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, said today there would be no geographical wage differentials in the wage-hour bill.

Eliminations of differentials, he said, was a great victory for northern industries and their employees.

New Englanders have fought for elimination of wage differentials to prevent migration of industry to the south.

of the day's session that he would propose tomorrow a change in the compromise. Under the amendment the industrial boards would go into action immediately, with instructions to increase the wage to 40 cents as rapidly as possible. After seven years, the 40-cent scale would be mandatory, except where disemployment would result, as in the formula adopted today.

Barring a filibuster by Ellender and his colleagues—Ellender, himself, spoke nearly four days in last winter's filibuster against the anti-lynching bill—it was generally thought that adjournment would be reached by the middle, or latter part, of next week.

CASH BOY'S BODY FOUND NEAR TOWN

he declined to amplify, follows in full:

"We have been able to recover the body of the little Cash boy. The body will be removed to Miami for autopsy and examination. It was found about a half mile west of Princeton on Coconut Palm road, in a clump of almost impenetrable underbrush, palm trees, at 12:03 a. m. Thursday."

"The kidnapping took place shortly after 9 p. m. May 28, and the first note was delivered at 10 p. m. that night at the home of the boy's uncle, Asbury Cash. That note gave the location of the second note, the cabin of a negro, John Manuel, who had nothing to do with the kidnapping. There was a demand therein for $10,000 to be paid midnight May 30. In that note the route was set to be followed by the father, James Bailey Cash Sr., down Tallahassee road to Mowry road to the Dixie highway and back to Princeton. The route was followed and nothing found."

Third Note.

"A third note was left at the home of Wilson Cash at midnight informing the father to go again at 4 a. m. Contact was made at 4:10 a. m. and the ransom money was placed in a shoebox at Sunset drive and Tallahassee road. A signal was made by flashing a light."

"We have in custody Franklin Pierce McCall, 21, of Princeton, Fla. He has made a full and complete statement, admitting writing all the notes and obtaining the ransom money, which was recovered in full about 4 a. m. Wednesday. The money was in the corner of a stone-enclosed orchard owned by Charles Chambers on Sunset drive, between Tallahassee road and the Dixie highway."

We also found the box, torn to pieces, in which the money was paid. It had been placed under a stone in a palmetto clump north of Sunset drive in front of a house owned by Joseph Hilliard.

State Prosecution. "In due time I will confer with State Attorney G. A. Worley as to further procedure, as we are inclined to think it will be a case for local or state prosecution."

Hoover, dressed in khaki shirt, open at the throat, and khaki trousers, dictated the statement speedily and asked reporters not to ask him to go over it, as he had not slept for two nights.

He appeared in good spirits, however, smiled several times and obligingly slowed dictation when reporters appeared confused over a point.

Statement On Suspect.

The following, in the form of a written statement, was issued by the FBI regarding the suspect:

"Franklin Pierce McCall was born at Jasper, Fla., on March 31, 1917. His parents were the late Franklin Pierce McCall and Linnie Taylor McCall. The latter is now residing at Jasper, Fla. McCall graduated from the high school at Jasper, Fla., in June, 1934, and came to Princeton, Fla., to live with his parents where his brother was pastor of the Nazarene church."

"Since that time he has been employed by various farmers in driving trucks, grading, packing and selling tomatoes. He married Claudine Evelyn Hilliard at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., on January 9, 1936. From July, 1937, until October, 1937, McCall was employed in the state highway department at Dania, Fla., as a roadman."

"During the past two tomato seasons in the vicinity of Princeton, Fla., McCall and his wife have occupied an apartment in the home of James B. Cash, father of the victim. On or about April 11, 1938, McCall and his wife moved to the home of Red Lambert, located at the intersection of Tallahassee road and Sunset avenue, where the ransom pay-off was effected."

Jimmy, a blond, blue-eyed little boy, bright for his five and one-half years, was stolen from his bed by a kidnaper who let himself in the back door of the frame, two-story apartment building after slipping a screen in the upper panel."

Mrs. Cash had just put her son to sleep in a one-piece suit of white and rose-striped pajamas after reading the funny papers to him and had gone to help her husband close his grocery store, in the front of the building. She fixed the time at between 9:35 and 10:15 p. m.

When she discovered her only child was gone and a search had been started, a note was discovered pinned to the door at the near-by home of Wilson P. Cash, one of the father's three brothers. It directed him to the shack of John Manuel, negro, where a second note was found saying the boy had been kidnapped and demanding $10,000 ransom in unmarked bills of small denomination. The kidnaper had sought to have Manuel deliver the note to Cash for $5 but the negro, fearful of a caller at such a late hour, fled out the back door so the abductor slipped the note under his front door.

It threatened death to little "Skeegie," as the boy was nicknamed, if authorities were notified. Nevertheless, Cash called the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Miami and agents immediately went to Princeton.

The next day, which was Sunday, word of the kidnapping spread through this little community of 300 population, but the neighbors co-operated in maintaining an atmosphere of calm so as not to alarm the kidnaper to the extent that he might fail to return the child. News of the abduction did not become generally public until late Monday night.

Although the banks were closed for the Memorial Day holiday, Cash, who is a moderately wealthy filling station and grocery store owner, obtained the ransom money under the supervision of G-men who recorded the serial numbers of the 1,500 bank notes. These were broadcast two days later and the FBI posted a reward of double their face value for the first 100 bills to be turned in.

With the money in a shoebox, Cash motored alone that night over a route mapped in the note seeking a signal of blinking headlights from the kidnappers but failed to make contact with them. Soon he returned home and as crowds of curious bystanders were beginning to gather outside his house a third note was slipped under his door.

The gist of this note was that there were too many people about and he should try again.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Be stubbornly refuse anything else.

Why, they CAN'T HOLD A CANDLE to EAGLE!

Police Roundup Puts 5,000 Behind Barbecue Line at Lakewood Park, Where All Have a Big Time.

By LEE FUHRMAN.

The annual police barbecue last night... the high, wide and handsome agricultural building at Lakewood park... bluecoats, bluecoats everywhere... but not an arrest to make... barbecue and Brunswick stew... 1,000 pounds of lamb... 5,000 pounds of ham... 600 chickens for the stew... a ticket sale of more than 5,000... to raise funds for the Atlanta Police Relief Association... Patrolman H. T. Robinson, usually of radio car 16... now apron-clad, with a blue and white committee badge, a member of the serving committee... sawdust on the floor... 5,000 tickets out... and just as many patrons... Tariffic Patrolman Ed Chatham, usually of Five Points... also apron-clad... but wearing his summer police hat... also on the serving committee.

Empty soft drink and beer bottles piled at the foot of the building... a golden-haired tot in a pink dress... solemnly eating a potato chip... 35 tables for the guests... a steady stream... at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, front doors were opened... down the aisles of serving tables filed the thousands of friends of the police... a pound of barbecue for each person... pickles... loaves of bread on the "eating" tables... boxes for chairs.

Detective H. T. Brown, chairman of the serving committee... "Biggest crowd we ever had," he says... "Next year we'll be ready for 10,000 folks." Hands carrying heaping plates of food... reminiscent of a circus cook tent.

Friends meet... shake hands... A four-year-old boy slides along the sawdust... falls... a pickle flies out of his hand... A man hurrying toward a table... two bottles of beer in one hand... A mother wets a handkerchief under a water barrel... then washes her baby's face... Patrolman L. A. Rivers, usually of Marietta street... on duty at a side door... "Around to the front door, please." 500 gallons of Brunswick stew... pretty girls... a city fireman and his wife and their three young sons... 2,200 loaves of bread... Patrolman L. D. Cody, usually in a radio car... on duty at a side door.

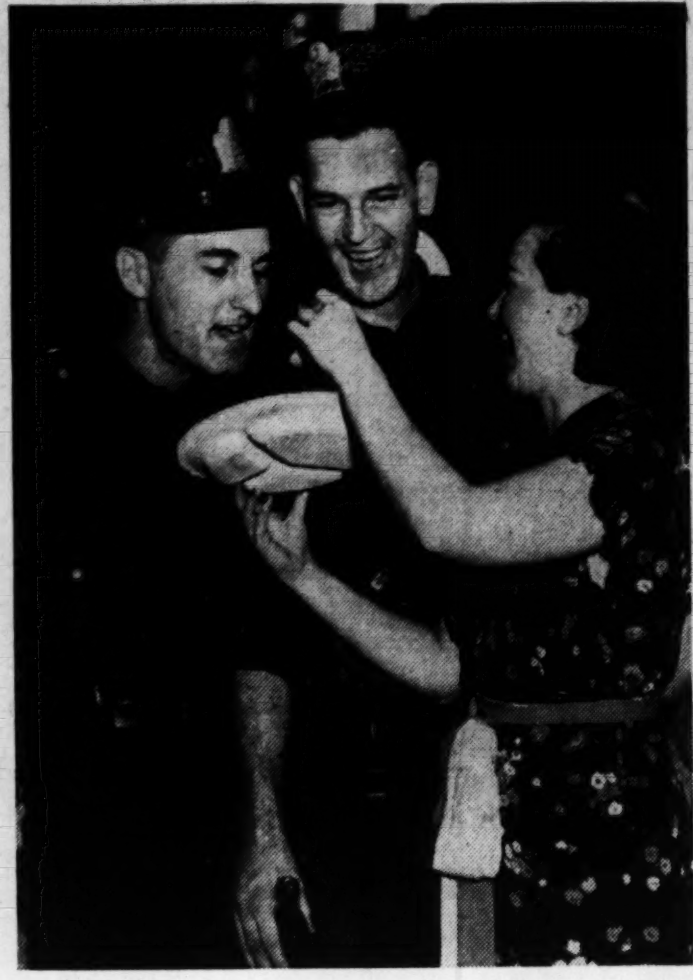

A man spies a piano against a wall... bangs out a honky-tonk tune... Heat outside... heat inside... Everyone who bought a ticket must have come... and still they come... Detective Dock Sims, chairman of the entertainment committee, talking with Captain Hapner... Hapner's clown who put on a burlesque automobile race... on an adjoining lawn... before the food was served... Meats roasted to just the right brown... Patrolman F. O. Bishop, usually of a radio car... an active member of the serving committee... Hapner's hearts holding hands... Supernumerary A. C. Roberts on guard at the end of the food line... "If you want a refill, you got to go out and come in again, by the front door."

A camera enthusiast snaps a picture... negro boys clearing tables... cigars and cigarettes for sale at a little stand... Traffic Patrolmen E. A. Dorsey, R. O. Williams and E. S. Elliott... members of the drinks committee... constant movement of human beings... paper plates... paper boxes... smoke from cigars, cigarettes, pipes.

Police men's wives, behind the barbecue tables... Station Lieutenant R. C. Carroll, chairman of the barbecue committee... "Nice job, lieutenant..." "Hey! How you doing?"

Summer clothes... laughter W. W. Ford and H. P. Sibley... Patrolmen H. O. Hambrick, talking over things... Food isn't all to this party... free park amusements... specialty acts... a dance... Patrolman A. L. Green, who has cooked the barbecue for years... proud of this, his 17th year... "Get enough to eat?" Chief of Police Hornsby... Thousands of bottles of beer and soft drinks... A friendly, orderly crowd.

Outside, a couple use the lawn for a table... Others, running boards of automobiles... Not a police car in sight... Patrolman D. T. Barge, president of the relief association... "Only ones who get in free are widows of policemen..."

Series of 35 Robberies Admitted By Escape Held in Fannin County

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., June 8.—Roy Williams, Bartow county robber and escape artist, was captured today after a two-day search by Bartow County Sheriff George Gaddis, State Revenue Agent Wallace Wheeler, Deputies Jack McCoy and Doyle Powell, Pickens county officers, and Blue Ridge police.

Williams, under the alias of Wimpy Johnson, was found living with J. E. Long, of Morganton, who said he knew neither Williams' true name nor his record.

Williams, Sheriff Gaddis said, escaped from Colorado, Texas, officers as he was being taken from the jail to the courthouse there to answer charges of burglary in early March.

Sheriff Gaddis said Williams admitted he returned to Georgia in March and had been hiding in Fannin county since. He admitted the theft of an automobile in Cedartown March 28, the robbery of the Planters' Supply Company at Taylorsville, a Halls Station store, the state highway shop at Jasper, and Chambers' store in Fair Mount, the sheriff said.

The sheriff quoted the captured man as confessing he had intended holding up the J. M. Veach & Company store here next Saturday if he had not been apprehended.

Williams stole cars at Stilesboro, Lineville, Ala., in Mississippi, and in Lineville, Texas, and robbed the state highway warehouse in Colorado, Texas, his confession today said, before his capture in the Texas city. He also admitted the burglary of 25 to 30 other places when arrested by Texas officers, it was reported.

WPA-POLITICS QUIZ MAKES HEADWAY

George Among Group of Senators Hastening Action on Resolution.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—Ten senators sponsoring a resolution for an investigation of any use of WPA funds for political purposes succeeded today in a parliamentary maneuver intended to hasten action on it and confidently predicted its eventual approval.

At the request of Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, the resolution was taken from the senate appropriations committee and referred to the audit committee, of which he is a member. Tydings and nine others introduced the resolution.

Under the resolution, a three-member senate committee would be set up to hear any allegations that work relief had been so administered as to "intimidate, coerce or influence" WPA workers.

Senator McAdoo, Democrat, California, one of the authors, offered an amendment today to extend the inquiry to federal pay-

FORD IS ELIMINATED IN CAR WORKERS' SUIT

DETROIT, June 8.—(AP)—Henry Ford, the Ford Motor Company and Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, were eliminated as defendants today by Federal Judge Moinet in a suit brought by the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO) in an attempt to halt interference with distribution of union literature at the River Rouge plant gates.

The judge's action left Mayor John A. Carey, of Dearborn, where the plant is located, and Chief of Police Carl S. Brooks, also of Dearborn, as the only defendants in the action, which was filed after more than 900 unionists were arrested in several attempts to hand literature to Ford workers at the plant gates. None of the men ever has been tried.

Joining Tydings in introducing the resolution were Senators Adams, of Colorado; Bulkeley, of Ohio; Burke, of Nebraska; George, of Georgia; Gerry, of Rhode Island; Hatch, of New Mexico; King, of Utah; McAdoo, of California; and Wagner, of New York, all Democrats.

Wedding Ring of Grandmother Modernized for Atlanta Bride

By Sally Forth.

WEDDINGS and sentiment seem to go together, and many notes of deep sentimental significance marked the marriage of Eloisa Alexander and James LeConte, which took place yesterday at a brilliant evening ceremony at the Central Presbyterian church. Perhaps the most interesting of all was the wedding ring which the groom slipped upon the bride's finger to seal their marriage vows.

The ring is made from that with which the bride's grandmother, the former Eloisa Baker, of Liberty county, and for whom yesterday's bride was named, was married to J. H. Alexander. The ring was given to Eloisa at the death of her grandmother and the gold band was recently covered with platinum and set with diamonds. Inside the ring is engraved "E. F. B. from J. H. A., 12-30-67," and "E. B. A. from J. A. LeC., 6-8-38," the initials being those of both bride and groom.

Exquisite rosepoint lace, that was worn by Eloisa's mother, the former Elizabeth McCall, of Richmond, Va., and her grandmother, the former Sally Hooper, also of Richmond, on their wedding gowns, trimmed the bride's satin wedding robes and edged her tulle veil. She wore a pearl pin and necklace that belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. McCall.

Fraught with sentiment was another pin worn by Eloisa, which was sent her by Mrs. Albert Sidney Briggs, of Richmond, Va., a dear friend of her mother. This pin was loaned to Mrs. Alexander by Mrs. Briggs to wear in her wedding, so it was very appropriate that she sent it to yesterday's bride to wear on the most important day of her life.

MRS. JAMES EDGAR PAULLIN is another prominent Atlantian sailing this month for Europe to spend the summer traveling in England and on the continent. Mrs. Paullin leaves today for New York, from where she sails Saturday aboard the steamer Britannic. She will be accompanied by her cousin, Miss Fay Frederick, of Seattle, Wash., and Miss Betty Wright, another Seattle college belle.

The trio will disembark at a British port and spend two weeks motoring through England and Ireland. They will cross the English channel in early July and go direct to Brussels to visit Mrs. Paullin's brother, Ralph Frederick.

Before sailing for homeland shores in middle August the travelers will visit principal cities and several fashionable summer resorts in European countries.

Miss Deas Smith Becomes Bride Of Mr. Fuller at Episcopal Rites

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS FULLER III.

Among the first important June weddings to be solemnized this month was that of Miss Deas Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Smith, to Thomas Fuller III, which was a beautiful event of yesterday afternoon. The ceremony took place at 5:30 o'clock at All Saints Episcopal church with the pastor, Rev. Theodore Will, officiating. Preceding the rites Joseph Ragan presented a program of nuptial music which closed when the organist sounded the notes of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" for the entrance of the bride.

Ushers were Henry B. Troutman, Marion Smith, Walter B. Elcock, Maxwell Tupper and Bryan M. Grant. Standards of white snapdragons and white gladioli guarded the entrance to the altar, on which similar white flowers were arranged and where cathedral candelabra holding gleaming white tapers added a soft illumination to the setting. Palms and foliage plants provided a background for floor baskets of white snapdragons and gladioli arranged within the chancel rail and on either side of the altar.

Bridal Attendants. The groomsmen and bridesmaids entered the church in pairs, the latter wearing exquisite gowns fashioned of pastel pink silk net posed over taffeta of a matching shade. Their wide-brimmed leghorn hats were trimmed with hyacinth blue taffeta ribbon and they carried bouquets of delicately colored flowers in which the shades of pink and blue predominated. The bridesmaids included Miss Betty Gregg, of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Laura Troutman, Miss Martha Fuller and Mesdames J. P. Allen Jr., Octavia Riley Boland, Henry Maddox Jr., Harry Buire and William Conard.

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK.—I went to bed at 11 o'clock last night and, having had a rather short night's sleep on Sunday, fell asleep immediately, only to be awakened by distant calls of, "Mrs. Roosevelt, the telephone!" I arose, listened to a phoned telegram, and returned to the sleeping porch and fell asleep again. What seemed to me hours later, voices again called me from very far away and insisted that the telephone must be answered.

This time it was Seattle, Wash., and my daughter told me of some changes in her plans which would necessitate new arrangements at this end of the line. I'd almost reached the conclusion that the night was not meant for sleep, but I tried once more and nothing disturbed me until I heard the first birds at 6:30 a. m. I lay lazily for another hour enjoying, with half-closed eyes, the reflection of the sunrise and the activity of all nature's little creatures, who are much more sensible than we are, for they are busy early in the morning.

Yesterday I was lost, for I had no one in the house here to answer the telephone, or take care of the mail, or do any one of the one hundred-odd things that Mrs. Scheider always does. Believe me, if you come to depend upon somebody else to smooth out the details of life for you, that person has but to be removed for a short time to make you realize how dependent you are. There was a time in my dim and distant past when I wrote all my own letters in longhand and did all my own telephoning and made all my own arrangements. But I have grown shockingly careless and leave many of the details of living in more capable hands than my own.

Last evening, however, a very capable younger secretary, Mrs. James W. Somerville, came up from the Washington office and today has been a very much simpler day, with the knowledge that when I am at the hospital everything will be taken care of at home. The mail man, however, looked Mrs. Somerville over with a cold and calculating eye and told her that if she was going to sign for letters addressed to me, she would have to go through all the formalities that Mrs. Scheider has gone through. How was he to know who she was and whether she had a right to substitute for Mrs. Scheider. Even in the remote country districts Uncle Sam's mails have to run according to approved rules, which should be rather comforting to us all.

I was happy to find the doctor at the hospital this morning in a very cheerful frame of mind. Mrs. Scheider is even better than we hoped. When I went in and read her a rather ribald telegram from a friend of ours who had been with us in West Virginia, she actually smiled. It appears that on our rounds in West Virginia, the visitors were exposed to the measles and so this telegram began, "What is all this, measles or what?"

The sun is shining. It is a perfect June day. My mother-in-law has gone to New York University for me. I am feeling much happier.

NEWS FROM THE STUDIOS.

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—Twenty unknown young men have already been tested for the lead in "Golden Boy." Lights, cameras, time consumed, etc., put Columbia back more than $1,000 for each test, but I am asked by Julius Evans—executive in charge of the tests—that the studio will continue giving them to unknowns until the right boy is found. Already mentioned for the role have

TWO PUFFS AND A FLARE FOR LITTLE GIRLS.

Out puffs the sleeves like little balloons, in goes the waistline, and out flares the skirt again, all making you feel very dressed up and ladylike if you're a brief 4-to-12! It is the simplest kind of dress for small girls, and one of the smartest! In paper taffeta, dimity or organdy with ribbon trim, it's plenty enough for parties. In gingham, percale or calico with braid or bias fold to trim, it's a sturdy play frock.

This little frock would be very pretty in white with narrow black velvet ribbon at the round neckline, on the sleeve bands, and at the hem line of the rippling skirt.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1543-B (sew chart included) is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 6 requires 2 1/4 yards of 35-inch material; 5 yards of ribbon or braid to trim as pictured. Price of pattern 15 cents. Do not send stamps.

been Francis Lederer, Gene Raymond, George Raft, Henry Fonda, Wayne Morris and Tyrone Power, but there is something out of character with all of them. For instance, Tyrone's acting fits the bill, but his physique is wrong for the musician-boxer. Morris' physique is fine, but his face is not esthetic enough. Every man among you who feels he combines both should apply personally to Mr. Evans, who sees all comers. (P. S. If Hollywood fails to yield the Golden Boy, Evans goes on a nationwide hunt.)

Adolph Zukor tells me that Paramount will shortly produce pictures in England "in a very big way." As a preliminary, David Rose, who for two years vice president of Goldwyn productions, is going to London to open his office as head of Paramount production abroad. The studio plans to use some of its biggest stars in its British unit, of the caliber of Claudette Colbert, Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray.

Don't be alarmed, but Edward G. Robinson will be called by the name of a flower in his next picture for Warners—to wit, "Brother Orchid." As usual, Eddie starts life as a gangster, is sent to prison. When he comes out, he is taken for a ride and thrown outside a monastery, where the brothers sell flowers for charity and name each monk after a flower. Tut, tut!

Two more Valentino revivals in the offing—the most famous of them all, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," which may be dubbed in with sound. And "Blood and Sand." If the latter goes over, Paramount will also release "Monsieur Beaucaire." "The Sun Never Sets," a story of the British consular service, will be produced by Eddie Grainger for Universal, the middle of July, with Robert Montgomery practically set for the star role. James Whale directs. Jimmy Cagney has yet another picture on his elastic schedule, "Baby-Face Kid," a prize-fighting epic. . . . Another version of "Pollyanna" is being considered, with Shirley Temple in the role played by Mary Pickford many

PLEASANT HOMES

By ELIZABETH MACRAE BOYKIN

WHEN THE PAINTING FEVER ATTACKS.

When you feel the urge to paint.

There comes a time in the life of almost every lady when a great urge comes swelling up to do a job on that old dresser . . . to add a new group of book shelves to the library . . . to go all the way and change the whole color scheme of the side porch or the breakfast nook.

Pause Before You Paint.

But watch out. There are an awful lot of daubing paint jobs let loose on the world by over-enthusiastic ladies. There's a good deal more to this business of painting furniture and do-funnies than just buying a pot of paint and going to it. If you are the kind who dislikes to waste time and believes that a job worth doing is worth doing well, a few rules will help make that little painting chore in to a joy forever, or anyway for a good long time.

A painting shelf in the pantry, back stoop or cellar is a good idea if you're likely to make a habit of it. On this shelf you should keep several sheets of sandpaper (grades 00 and 000), a small wooden block to wrap the sandpaper around when you're ready to give the surface a little roughage, turpentine, wood filler, wood alcohol, a metal scraper, linseed oil, a wooden paddle to stir paint, a small knife, putty, good brushes and left-over paint. When you go to work you'll want clean rags and lots of old newspapers. Better buy good paint, or you'll wish you had. Cheap paint is seldom worth the work.

A Few Rules.

When painting a chair, place it on a table or box where you can get at it without stooping. Cover everything underneath your actual piece to be painted with newspapers to catch the drippings.

To paint a table, turn it upside down, and do the legs first. Then turn rightside up and finish the top. Always take the drawers out of a dresser or cabinet before painting. Put them back in when pieces are thoroughly dry. Don't let paint, lacquer or varnish dry on your brush. Clean it at once or you may as well say, "So long, brush." Soak varnish brushes in varnish remover. Sol-lac brushes can be cleaned in denatured alcohol. Paint brushes are cleaned with turpentine, gasoline or paint remover. Lacquer brushes need lacquer thinner. To clean a gilt brush, use lacquer thinner or gilt thinner.

Dampness will slow up drying. Cold with injure a finish. Dust will settle on wet paint and make it look gritty.

Be very careful about paint and keep it away from an open flame! Watch out about the children, too. Paint is often poisonous.

To darken a color, add black. To lighten a color, add white.

Wear an old smock or apron, or you'll be daubing no matter how much care you take.

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Boykin, care The Atlanta Constitution, for more complete instructions for painting furniture. Ask for our new bulletin "How to Paint Furniture."

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

STARS' FIGURES MADE MORE BEAUTIFUL BY DESIGN . . . AND CLOTHES TRICKS.

The day I lunched with Orry-Kelly he had nervous indigestion and poached eggs. I should think he would be upset, for designing for those beautiful movie stars to make their figures photograph perfect is no easy job!

The movie camera is a meanie. It makes even a lovely figure appear heavier, and if there is a tiny flaw the camera highlights it until it is the star's most noticeable point. It is up to the designer to give the star with the perfect figure the clothes that do her justice on the screen. If the actress does have a figure fault, cleverness of design must prevent the camera from stressing it.

Orry-Kelly stands out as a genius in designing the clothes that do the most for the figure, and I buttonholed him for all the tricks that could be turned to your advantage. His first style tip for the figure set me back on my heels, but the more I think of it the sounder it seems.

Said Orry-Kelly: "Cover up your good points to conceal your bad ones. For example, the woman with shapely legs is tempted to wear her skirts too short. The short skirt cuts the figure, and if there is an excess inch or two in the waistline, this measurement is emphasized. Cover up regardless . . . because you also cover up flaws."

What about skirt lengths, anyway? Orry-Kelly says there should be none of this 12, 14 and 16 inch business, because skirt lengths should be adjusted to individual build. A good rule is to have the skirt one inch below the largest part of the calf measurement.

The more work, exercise, play or activity, the greater the requirement; the more active the metabolism the greater the requirement; but nutrition authorities estimate that 30 Chase and Sherman units of vitamin B for each 100 calories of food is a fair daily standard.

Incidentally one of the now well recognized effects of moderate shortage of vitamin B is weak heart muscle. This accounts for the poor circulation and dilated heart that brings many poorly nourished working men into the hospital wards nowadays.

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

VITAMIN B FOR CATARRHAL DEAFNESS.

Having noticed an inquiry from one of our readers in reference to the use of vitamin B for the relief of deafness, I want to report the excellent results I have had, writes a reader.

I have had a catarrhal condition for many years, with constant mucous discharge from nose and throat and impairment of hearing. I underwent a good deal of treatment by physicians and specialists. Also I seemed to be one of those unfortunate who have a new misery every few weeks.

Then the doctor suggested trying vitamin B and prescribed a preparation of it to supplement my diet.

I had taken this only a week when the nose and ear trouble cleared up so much that I might have used one handkerchief all week if it were not for wrinkling it. For years I had been in the habit of carrying four handkerchiefs with me all the time—three blowers and one shower. Now I do not soil my handkerchief at all. I think I'll take vitamin B till I die.

All my life I have steered clear of people with the cat because as sure as I came within a mile of it I caught it. Recently all my friends remark about my freedom from the cat.

One thing about the vitamin B treatment of deafness, catarrhal deafness or other progressive deafness, is the certainty that it can do no harm in any case and the likelihood that it may improve the general health or the vite in many cases.

What the optimal or most favorable daily intake of vitamin B would be depends upon the individual circumstances. The more work, exercise, play or activity, the greater the requirement; the more active the metabolism the greater the requirement; but nutrition authorities estimate that 30 Chase and Sherman units of vitamin B for each 100 calories of food is a fair daily standard.

IS IT NERVES OR IS IT TEMPER?

PREVENT SCENES WHICH OFFEND FRIENDS.

Unhappy Beth! She doesn't know her explosive "temper" is really jangled nerves—that she could easily exchange her tantrums for a vivacious, winning charm.

Her one trouble is she's gotten on the wrong track—a tragedy to high-strung, impressionable people of her type. On the right one, her keen reactions and high spirits would make her fascinating, sought after.

What is the wrong track if you're a nervous type? 1. Brooding over small slights. 2. Representing your real interests and desires. 3. Following a cut-and-dried routine.

What to do to get on the right track? 1. Turn your lively mind to pleasing others instead of brooding and accusing. Before your imagination magnifies a thoughtless slight into a deadly insult, call up the offender, delight him with a friendly chat. 2. Express your naturally colorful personality—by doing the things you want to do as neatly and as completely as you can.

If you can't afford to buy the lovely dresses you see in the store windows, learn to make your own. If you can't have the spacious garden you dream about, plant a charming indoor one.

3. As for your routine, relieve its pressure on your sensitive nervous system by taking an off day once in a while. Follow your impulses, forget the clock.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondents invited. Your name and address will be kept confidential. Write Miss Chatfield in care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: Five years ago my husband and I bought a small home in a small town where we lived very happily but for one thing: he found it hard to get steady employment. However, I was so crazy for a bit of land where I could have a garden and tend my flowers and vegetables, I insisted that we stick it out and hope for the best. Finally, he was offered a position as a tenant farmer and he thought in view of our past experience we should take it. It nearly broke my heart to leave what was ours and go to live on another's land but I tried to make the best of it. The farm was beautiful and we had plenty to eat with regular money coming in. It was lonely living so far from people and soon the serpent of unrest took possession of me. I pressed my husband to go back to our small town home.

We did and since then things have gone from bad to worse. Work is harder than ever to get; my husband is out of heart and I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown. We haven't known a peaceful day since we returned. He wants to sell our home, live on the proceeds as long as it lasts and then go on relief. I want most of all to keep my home and I can't think his plan is good but what is a good plan for people in our fix?

HOPELESS.

ANSWER: It's a large order to tell a woman how to pick a living out of the air, hold her home, keep her pluck and put heart into a man who's lost his nerve. But there must be some way for the two of you to get on your feet. Just suppose that every able-bodied pair gave up, sold out and laid down on the government, wouldn't this country be in a pretty fix? Why my dear woman, it's an outrageous idea for you to play with!

No use to tell you that you acted unwisely when you permitted your sentimental attachment for your home to prize your husband loose from a well-paying job and go, without prospects, back to the small town

America is in a bad way when a couple of healthy, intelligent, home owning citizens see no way around relief. Not that anyone would minimize the difficulty of finding congenial employment these days but that people who can write good letters, express fine sentiments about home and land, swing a pick and bear down on spade and hoe, such people should be able to feed themselves.

Bridge Lite

By HAROLD SHARPSTEEN

ONE SAFETY PLAY.

One of the first things the average beginner learns about playing bridge is to finesse for the king when holding the ace and queen. Later it often becomes a rather difficult assignment attempting to convince him that to always finesse may be a losing principle of play.

When the opening lead has been made and dummy hand is spread on the table, good bridge players stop first to consider their task.

Before playing a card from the dummy, declarer wants to know how many tricks he is apt to lose and where he is likely to lose them. During this preliminary appraisal of assets and liabilities, declarer tentatively outlines a campaign of play.

AVOIDS FINESSE.

Success or failure of the contract may depend upon holding the losses in a suit to the minimum, by preferring a safety play to a finesse, as holding: (Dummy) 6 3 2

W— A Q 7 5 4 E—

The natural impulse is to finesse for the missing king on the first round of the suit.

Opponents hold five cards of the suit, including K J 10 9 and 8. One trick must be lost. Even when the finesse is successful only four of these outstanding high intermediates can be picked up.

NOTHING IS LOST.

When West holds the king singleton, it will win declarer's queen when the finesse is attempted on the first round and East, holding J 10 and 9, will cash two more tricks.

Nothing will be lost by avoiding the first-round finesse.

Playing up with the ace on the first round eliminates the possibility of a singleton king, held by West, winning the trick. Returning to dummy and leading small up to closed hand's queen, declarer still has the same opportunity to play the queen when East plays low. When East plays the king on the second round, declarer is saved a guess.

FACTOR OF SAFETY.

If West played the jack on the ace, if honest, he can be read for the king and declarer may duck the second round, saving his queen to draw the last round of the suit. The original play of the ace can never result in the unnecessary loss of a trick.

Till tomorrow— (Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution.)

BEAUTY HINTS FROM HOLLYWOOD

A FIVE-MINUTE HAIR STYLE

Screen stars have less time to devote to their nonprofessional coiffures than the average working girl or housewife. After spending 12 or 14 hours a day at the studio, most stars have come to depend upon their own ingenuity in crafting "five-minute hair styles" at home. Eleanor Whitney, Paramount's popular dancing star, shows the usual state of her hair when she arrives home at 6:30 after a hard day's work at the studio, with less than an hour in which to bathe, dress, apply her make-up and arrange her hair. First of all, Eleanor quickly combs her hair straight back in pompadour fashion to reveal her ears. The soft strands are held in place with bobby pins that allow the loosely curled ends to form a soft frame for her face. With so much to do and so little time in which to do it, switches, clusters of curls, artificial bangs, and other trick hair pieces provide the solution for highly original hair styles which can be easily created by anyone in a minimum amount of time. Fred Fredericks, ace hair stylist, shows Eleanor what a striking coiffure she can effect with the simple arrangement of a cluster of curls in the exact shade to match her own auburn tresses. (Insert, a close-up of the curls.) The cluster is attached to Miss Whitney's hair in much the same manner as a switch. After each wearing, the curls must be redressed, but the cluster can be used over and over again. By simply changing its placement on the head, a wide variety of distinctive coiffures can be created. Eleanor carries the idea one step farther by adding artificial bangs. Additional time required—one second flat. And here we have the finished result—Miss Whitney all dressed up in a brand-new coiffure—a typical five-minute hair style from Hollywood.

Miss Schilling Weds Mr. Henderson At St. James Church in Marietta

MARIETTA, Ga., June 8.—Miss Louise Conradi Schilling became the bride of Frank Henderson, of Tampa, today at a ceremony taking place in the late afternoon at the St. James Episcopal church. Canon Charles Schilling, brother of the bride and rector of the church of Our Saviour, in Atlanta, read the marriage vows in the presence of a brilliant assemblage of relatives and friends. Tom Brumby III, organist, and Mrs. Graham Sullivan, soloist, rendered an appropriate musical program.

The historic church was decorated for the wedding with a profusion of greenery banked on each side of the choir stalls among which were seven-branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers. Palms and ferns interspersed with baskets of calla lilies and Queen Anne's lace, formed the decorations around the altar and vases of the same were placed on the altar rail. The windows around the chancel were adorned with vases of Queen Anne's lace.

Ushers were Bill Little, Madison Fowler, Marion Dobbs and Alec Tragone, of Marietta.

The maid of honor was Miss Madge Schilling, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Betty Schilling and Mrs. Charles Schilling, of Atlanta.

Sisters of the bride, Miss Hazel Ward and Mrs. T. N. Henderson, of Tampa, sister of the groom. The gown of the maid of honor was of coral net fashioned over tulle and made with a floor-length, bouffant skirt, trimmed with pleating. The waist, made with a heart-shaped neckline, was trimmed with pleating and the sleeves were short and puffed.

Miss Schilling wore a picture hat of ivory horsehair trimmed with coral velvet ribbon which ended in streamers falling to the length of the gown. She carried Johanna Hill roses, delphinium and snapdragons tied with coral ribbon. The bridesmaids' gowns were fashioned identically like that worn by the maid of honor and they were of coral blue net. Their hats were trimmed with coral velvet ribbon which ended in streamers falling to the length of the gown. They carried Johanna Hill roses, delphinium and snapdragons tied with coral ribbon.

Bride Enters.
The lovely bride entered with her father, W. E. Schilling, by whom she was given in marriage, and they were met at the altar by the groom and Louis Castor, of Tampa, who was his best man.

The bride wore a gown of pearl white satin which fell in graceful folds to a full-length train. Fashioned along the length of the gown was buttoned in the back to a point below the waistline and was finished with sleeves, puffed at the shoulder and made tight at the wrist. The yoke of the gown was of the real lace which formed the yoke of her mother's graduation gown. Her veil of illusion tulle, edged with lace, was that worn by the bride's friend, Mrs. Jack Hodges at her wedding. The veil was caught to the hair with a coronet of seed pearls and confined across the back by a band of a ring of blossoms and valley lilies. Her flowers were valley lilies and orchids, tied with white satin and showered with orange blossoms. She carried an Irish linen handkerchief, embroidered in Swiss embroidery, the gift of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Schilling, parents of the bride, entertained at a reception at their home on Lawrence street for the wedding party, relatives and out-of-town guests.

Throughout the home graceful arrangements of summer flowers were used. In the dining room the mantel and buffet were banked with white flowers and the three-tiered wedding cake, embossed in white roses and valley lilies, centered the table which was covered with a lace cloth. The cake was the gift of Mrs. Marion Dobbs.

Mrs. Schilling, mother of the bride was gowned in hyacinth blue with bouquet of pink roses and Mrs. T. N. Henderson Sr., of Tampa, mother of the groom, wore an evening gown of lace and a shoulder spray of Talisman roses.

Assisting in entertaining were Misses Louise Schilling, Tilly Trezevant, Sara and Margaret Knott, Elizabeth Fowler, Doushka Brown, Grace Wing, Jeanne Massey, Jane Hawkins, Elizabeth Hodges, Jessie Lee Lynn, Eleanor Hutcherson, Mesdames W. D. Neal, Marion Dobbs, Norman Collins, Heney Meinert, J. M. Fowler, Madison Fowler, Jack Hodges, J. C. Ward, Fred Barkalow, Harold Schilling and J. R. Henderson and H. R. Hames, of Atlanta.

The groom and his bride left after the reception for an indefinite stay in California. The bride traveled in a navy crepe ensemble, worn with white blouse embroidered in navy, and a nobby cape lined with white. Her hat was an off-the-face model of white pique trimmed with blue and worn with chin-length veil and she wore a white orchid.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Lovelace, Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hames and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Henderson, all of Atlanta, and Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Henderson Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Henderson Jr., of Tampa.

Miss Alexander Weds Mr. LeConte At Brilliant Church Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. JAMES A. LE CONTE.

Centering cordial social interest in exclusive circles throughout the south was the marriage of Miss Eloisa Alexander and James Augustus LeConte Jr., of Atlanta and New York city, which was solemnized yesterday at 6 o'clock at a beautiful ceremony at the Central Presbyterian church. The Rev. Dr. Stewart R. Oglesby, pastor of the church, officiated in the presence of a large assemblage of guests. Prior to and during the ceremony Lawrence Nilson, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

The interior of the church was effectively decorated with a bridal motif of green and white. The altar was banked with handsome palms, interspersed with seven-branched cathedral candelabra holding burning white tapers. Tall floor baskets of Easter lilies and white gladioli were placed at intervals. The pews reserved for the families were marked by clusters of Easter lilies.

Acting as groomsmen were Jack Palmer, Vassar Higgins, Bob Wiggins and Jack Wyche and the ushers were James A. Halvestadt, Nesbit Tilly, Alex. Gaines and John Adams.

Miss Elizabeth Alexander, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor and Miss Carrie Allen Alexander, another sister, was junior bridesmaid. Mrs. James A. Halvestadt, Miss Margaret Colbert and Miss Mary Cary Maynard were bridesmaids.

Exquisite sea rose embroidered mouseline de soie fashioned the beautiful gowns worn by the bridesmaids and the junior bridesmaid. The models featured square necks, very short puffed sleeves, and very full skirts, untrimmed but for a double row of ruching around the bottom. They were narrow poude blue ribbon sashes. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of roses and garden flowers and the junior bridesmaid carried an old-fashioned nosegay. The matron of honor wore a gown of poude blue mouseline de soie, fashioned like those of the other attendants, and trimmed with a sea rose girdle. She also carried garden flowers.

The radiant bride entered with her father, James Harry Alexander, who gave her in marriage, and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. Joseph N. LeConte, his brother. She wore a wedding gown of ivory satin, the waist fashioned with a V-neck and a built-up waistline pointed in front and back, the sunburst tucks in front forming a full waist. The long sleeves were pointed over the wrists and trimmed with rows of tiny satin-covered buttons. The skirt was tight to the hips, where it flared into a full skirt and very long train. Antique rosepoint lace was inserted in front of the neckline and over the shoulders. The bride's veil of ivory illusion tulle was caught to her hair with a bandeau of orange blossoms, and was edged with point lace medallions, which were worn on the wedding dresses of her mother and her grandmother. She carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, parents of the bride, entertained the wedding party and out-of-town guests at an informal reception at their home on Park Lane. Mrs. Alexander received her guests in a handsome model of hyacinth blue embroidered net with a doublet belt and her flowers were roses and valley lilies. Mrs. James A. LeConte, mother of the groom, was lovely in black lace worn with a shoulder cluster of roses and valley lilies.

Effective Decorations.
The bridal motif of green and white was further carried out in the decorations of the handsome home. Palms and ferns were used in the reception rooms, interspersed with baskets of white roses and snapdragons. The bride's table was covered with an exquisite lace cloth and had for its center decoration the two-tiered wedding cake, outlined with white swansons, sweetpeas and baby breath. Punch was served from a bowl embedded in a mound of pastel shaded flowers by Miss Frances Steele, of Anniston, Ala. Mrs. Barton Jackson, of Charlotte, N. C., and Miss Jane Estes, of Gainesville, Fla., and Miss Virginia Gaines kept the bride's book.

Later Mr. and Mrs. LeConte left on their wedding trip to Lincolnton, N. C., and Virginia Beach, Va., following which they will reside in New York city. Mrs. LeConte traveled in a black crepe suit with a quilted jacket. The top of the dress was fashioned of chartruse triple sheer and this same shade trimmed her black hat. Her accessories were of black patent leather and she wore a shoulder cluster of orchids and valley lilies.

Miss Malone Weds Mr. Coursey At Church Ceremony in Bartow

BARTOW, Ga., June 8.—The First Baptist church of Bartow formed the setting for the marriage ceremony at which Miss Carolyn Malone, daughter of Mrs. William Ralph Malone, became the lovely bride of John L. Coursey Jr., of Atlanta, on Monday evening at 6 o'clock.

Giant palms and ferns massed the choir loft to the rear of the altar of the church to form a background for the white pedestal baskets filled with Easter lilies which predominated in the decorations. Myriads of gleaming white candles, held in floor standards, burned amidst the foliage. Clusters of Easter lilies marked the pews reserved for the families of the bridal couple.

The ushers included Wiley Evans Jr. and Julian Murphy Jr., of Bartow, and Roy Workman and Robert Warwick, of Atlanta. Louis Corrigan, of Atlanta, served as best man for Mr. Coursey.

The bride chose as her matron of honor her mother, Mrs. William R. Malone. Miss Isabel Slade, of Bartow, was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids included the groom's sister, Miss Elizabeth Coursey, of Atlanta, and Mrs. John Grey Preston, of Marietta.

The maid and matron of honor were gowned alike in effective costumes of French blue lace and net, with garlands of blue gardenias worn in their hair to hold in place their brief veils of flesh tulle. They carried bouquets of talisman roses. The bridesmaids wore similarly styled gowns of peach net trimmed in French blue ribbon, with garlands of blue gardenias holding their flesh-tinted veils in place. They also carried bouquets of talisman roses.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Vickery, Mrs. B. F. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Williamson and Vivian Williamson.

The beautiful bride entered the church with her uncle, Tom Peavy Lewis, of Hickory, N. C., who gave her in marriage. Handsome imported lace fashioned her bridal gown which was posed over a slip of shimmering white satin. Cut on princess lines, the gown featured a graceful flaring skirt which extended to form a long train. Her tulle veil fell from a halo of orange blossoms worn high on her head, and extended to cover her train. Completing the bridal ensemble was a bouquet of white roses and valley lilies.

Following the church ceremony, Mrs. Malone entertained at a reception at her home here. She was assisted in receiving her guests by the groom's mother, Mrs. John L. Coursey, of Atlanta, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. V. A. McMillan. Mrs. Coursey was handsomely gowned in cerulean blue lace and her flowers were pale pink orchids. Mrs. Malones' home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with quantities of roses and garden flowers displaying all the shades of the rainbow.

Mr. Coursey and his bride left for a wedding trip to Bermuda. Upon their return they will reside temporarily with the groom's mother on Peachtree street in Atlanta before going to Charlotte, N. C., to make their home.

Weldon Branch and Gene Dahlbender Reach Junior Finals

NASHVILLE GETS TWO IN SEVENTH TO KNOT COUNT

Harris Starts, Durham Relieves; Mailho Clouts Homer in First.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 8.—The Crackers and Vols battled to a 3-3 11-inning tie as the series closed with a super-thriller here tonight. The game was called to allow Nashville to catch a train.

Bobby Durham's relief pitching featured the battle. He allowed only three hits after relieving Harris in the seventh and in the final inning had the bases full and only one Vol out when he forced Blaemire to bounce into a double play to end the game.

Atlanta secured only seven hits off the combined delivery of Lin Watkins and Ralph Birkhofer. The Crackers were ahead, 3 to 1, going into the last of the seventh, when Nashville scored twice on singles by Haas and Chapman, Barath's double, an intentional pass and Hofferth's one-sacker to right.

Bobby Durham pulled out of a big hole here, striking out Walker and causing Rodda to pop with the bases full.

The Crackers hopped off to a one-run lead in the first inning when Mailho pumped one of Watkins' 3-2 pitches over the right-field screen for a homer. With the bases loaded, Manager Richards ended the round by grounding into a double play.

After Harris had fanned three of the first four men to face him, Nashville tied the score in the second on Barath's double off the left-field wall and Blaemire's single.

Atlanta went back in front in the fifth pushing over one run after two were out when Harris dumped a double into right field and scored when Walker dropped Mauldin's long fly.

The Crackers added another in the seventh. With one out, Dunn singled to left and took third on Peters' one-sacker to the same spot. Harris forced Peters at second, as Dunn scored.

Destiny Had No Hand in Yates' Victory; Courage, Skill Did It

TROON, Scotland.—(By Mail)—As I write the train is hurrying past a lot of Scotch landscape down toward Greenock where the steamer Laconia is waiting. A friend is along to put the large envelope into the mail on a faster ship. Behind us at Troon, just a few minutes back, is the new British amateur golf champion, Mr. Charlie Yates. I'm not sure what the date line ought to be but Troon will serve. The story was there.

There is a favorite sort of formula, in discussing tournaments, to say that a destiny picks out the winner and marks him at the start and brings him through. It won't serve in this victory by the Atlanta boy. Because C. Yates won this tournament on old-fashioned courage and skill. The Rt. Hon. Daniel Destiny doesn't even get an assist.

The Johnny Fisher match, which he won at the 19th, was one instance. The Hector Thomson match was the other—and the greatest. There was sweat and determination and the old stuff behind the belt buckle.

There were 10,000 people in the gallery. After the 17th, where Thomson had gone one ahead, I walked along with Ray Billows and others keeping the crowd back from Yates.

"Well," he said, speaking very low, "he has caught me and gone one up. I've enjoyed it and there is one more hole to play. I will see what we can do about it."

It was the last lone chance. Thomson needed only a half to win and eliminate the last American, who had ridden to the match singing a song. I wrote the story of how Yates got on in two and won the hole when Thomson was bunkered. But with cable rates low enough at five cents the word, press rate, I still didn't get to say half enough about that 19th hole.

THAT GREATEST FINISH. When Yates was on and Thomson was bunkered, I turned and hurried on to the 19th because I knew Yates wouldn't miss there on the big carpet at the clubhouse. He took the hole as I reached the edge of the next green and saw the 10,000 people turn and start in a mad race for points of vantage.

Henry Cotton, the English open champion, was just in front of me with three companions. They sat down on the grass at the rim of the green.

"You'll have to get back," said a bobby, waving at them. "Man," said Cotton, "we are here to stop Thomson's ball." The bobby grinned and walked on.

We could see them going to the tee, 355 yards away. It's called "The Seal," is that first hole at Old Troon. That's because it runs right along the beach and the seals play in the water just outside.

They both had good drives. Then came the test. Understand now, Yates had been three up and had been

YOUNG GOLFERS BATTLE TODAY OVER 36 HOLES

Alan Yates Loses on 19th; Branch Conquers Bruce Chapman, 3 and 1.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY. Weldon Branch, youthful East Lake star, and Gene Dahlbender, Darlington ace, will tee off this morning at 9:30 in the finals of the annual Atlanta junior golf tournament at Ingleside Country Club.

Final round of the championship flight will be over the 36-hole route, while Wallace Cochran and Earl McCullum will battle 18 holes for the second flight title.

Branch, medalist Monday with a 78, conquered young Bruce Chapman, of Candler park, 3 and 1, in the semi-finals yesterday.

Dahlbender sprang a mild upset in eliminating Alan Yates, of East Lake, on the 19th green. It was a terrific battle all the way and a tough one for the younger brother of Charlie Yates to lose.

SLIGHT FAVORITE. Previously, Yates and Chapman had tied for second medal honors with 78's and Alan had ruled slight favorite to meet Branch in the finals.

Finalists will be seeking the title won last year, but not defended by Billy Cate Jr., who eliminated Yates in the finals.

In the second flight, McCullum advanced with a 1-up triumph over John Hall and Cochran defeated Stewart Copeland, 4 and 3.

Dahlbender grabbed an early lead on the first two holes in his match with Yates, but the latter won the sixth and seventh. They made the turn all square.

UP AT 16TH. The winner went one up on the sixteenth but Yates squared again on the 18th. However, on the extra hole, after both tee shots were in the rough, Yates' second was short and in a grass trap, while Gene's was over and to the left of the green.

Dahlbender chipped dead to the pin but Yates' third was short and barely on. He missed the long putt, giving the Darlington ace the match.

The Chapman-Branch battle will all square through the 14th, with Weldon winning the 15th, 16th and 17th for the victory.

The tournament is sponsored by the Atlanta Golf Association and is conducted by Jimmy Livingstone, amiable Ingleside professional. Prizes will be awarded winners and runners-up of all flights.

Lewis, Johnson Tie In LaGrange Meet. LAGRANGE, Ga., June 8.—Sixty-four golfers began competition Tuesday for honors in the High-Land Country Club's annual championship tournament, following qualifying rounds in which Ted Lewis and George S. Johnson, with scores of 76, tied for low scores.

In the championship flight along with Lewis, Johnson and Ely R. Callaway Jr., the defending champion, are Joe Dunson, Bert Culpepper, Jack Croizer, Tom Callaway Jr. and Cliff Hunter Jr.

The finals are set for Sunday. Salisbury Will Lead Bulldog Trackmen. ATHENS, Ga., June 8.—(P)—Bob Salisbury, of Orlando, Fla., will captain Georgia's track and field team next season. He is the Southeastern conference's javelin champion and a second-string guard in football.

Lettermen also elected Harry Stevens, dash man of Atlanta, as alternate captain last night.

S. E. C. ELEVENS IN LONG-RANGE GRID PROGRAM

Georgia in Midst of Six-Year Plan; Inter-sectional Setup Fixed.

By KENNETH GREGORY. Associated Press Sports Writer.

Like the Russians, the University of Georgia believes the way to accomplish things is to have a plan, so this cracker state institution of learning has under way a "six-year program" for football.

The chief officers of the athletic association have drawn up a chart with dates listed through the fall of 1943 and the spaces are filling up not at all slowly. They hope to perpetuate this program, once it goes into operation.

Teams like Georgia Tech, Florida and Auburn of this immediate region are permanent fixtures. Others such as Tulane, Alabama, Miami and South Carolina will be worked into the setup as convenient.

From the intersectional standpoint, the plan has been completed through 1941. Holy Cross is a foe this year and next, New York University is down for a date in 1939, Columbia and Dartmouth have engagements with Georgia for 1940 and 1941, with Dartmouth coming south in 1941.

Georgia is not alone in this "long-range" schedule making, although none of the other 12 Southeastern conference members has set up a definite goal or plan.

FILED THROUGH 1941. Through 1941 the intersectional program is fairly well filled on the slates of all schools of this section. For instance, on the 1938 program there are 16 major games listed against "foreign" foes. Already 19 dates have been set for intersectional combats during the three campaigns starting in 1939.

Alabama's Crimson Tide, the conference champion, leads off the 1938 intersectional skirmish in a joust with Southern California at Los Angeles on September 24. Georgia Tech will close this fall's proceedings with a date at Berkeley on December 24 with California.

In between these dates are such ranking tests as Georgia Tech's encounter with Notre Dame here on October 8, the first of four annual games, Auburn's goes with Rice and Villanova, Florida's engagements with Boston College and Temple and Louisiana State's dates with Texas and Rice.

Other billings of importance for next fall are Mississippi State-Duquesne, Mississippi-Arkansas, Tulane-Rice, Vanderbilt-Washington University, Mississippi-St. Louis University and Mississippi-Georgia Washington.

Tulane and Alabama have dates with Fordham in 1939. Tulane also meets Columbia. Georgia catches New York University and Holy Cross, and Louisiana State invades the east for a game with the latter team. Auburn takes on Rice and Villanova and Kentucky engages West Virginia.

Besides Georgia's contests with Columbia and Dartmouth in 1940 and 1941, there are six other major conflicts already established.

MYER ON FIRST. Johnny Myer will be on first and ready for relief mound duty. Monk Beaver will be at second, Roy Marion at short and Ed Maxwell on third. The outfield will consist of Harvey Grant, E. B. Sikes and Ralph Plaster.

MAY THE BEST MAN WIN TODAY

Weldon Branch, left, and Gene Dahlbender will meet this morning for the Atlanta junior golf championship at the Ingleside Country Club. Branch, the medalist from East Lake, won his way into the finals yesterday with a 3-and-1 victory over Bruce Chapman. Dahlbender, of Darlington school, whipped Alan Yates, of East Lake, on the 19th hole.

Harold Humber Hurls Against West Palm Beach Ace in Opener of Title Series.

By ROY WHITE. WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., June 8.—Harold Humber, ace right-hander on the Tech High staff, will face Bobby O'Rourke, West Palm Beach High's ace, at 3:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the opening of a three-game series for the southern prep baseball championship.

West Palm Beach city officials have declared a half-holiday for the opening game. A mammoth parade, starting at 2 o'clock, will formally start the day's activities and a band concert by the Miami drum and bugle corps will precede the game 15 minutes.

RECORD CROWD. A record crowd for high school baseball in this section is assured for each of the games, as more than 3,000 season tickets already have been sold. In fact, grandstand seats are selling at a premium at present and there is not a box or reserved seat to be had.

It's the first baseball championship any West Palm Beach team has won and the city is out to show their appreciation.

Members of the American Legion Post No. 12 are sponsoring the three-day program and have the whole-hearted support of every fraternal and civic organization in the city and county.

Leroy Malvin, outfielder most of the season, will catch for Tech High, since the departure of Gillespie, who left Atlanta Sunday to join the Beaumont, Texas league team.

MYER ON FIRST. Johnny Myer will be on first and ready for relief mound duty. Monk Beaver will be at second, Roy Marion at short and Ed Maxwell on third. The outfield will consist of Harvey Grant, E. B. Sikes and Ralph Plaster.

DON BUDGE GAINS QUARTER-FINALS IN FRENCH EVENT

Red Head Overpowers Destremeau, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4; Seems To Have Title.

AUTEUIL, France, June 8.—(AP) American, British and Australian champion Don Budge tonight stood two matches removed from the French hard court tennis crown.

The great California red-head over-powered Bernard Destremeau, of France, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, in the quarter-finals today and seems to have the title in the bag.

Destremeau ranks No. 2 in France, but he never had a chance with Budge. In sharp contrast to his indifferent performance in a five-set duel with Franz Kukuljevic on Monday, the Californian had all his shots under full control while his forcing tactics drove Destremeau into repeated errors.

In the semi-finals, Budge will meet Josip Pallada, of Yugoslavia, who eliminated the French southpaw, Christian Bussus, 6-1, 3-6, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

The other semi-final will send Ferenc Puncce, of Yugoslavia, against Roderich Jenkel, of Czechoslovakia. Puncce put out

42d Annual National Open Golf Tourney Will Start Today

SNEAD 5-1 CHOICE, BUT EXPERTS SEE MANY GOOD BETS

Cherry Hills Offers Rugged Problem; 'Til Accept a 290'—Sarazen.

By ALAN GOULD.

DENVER, June 8.—(P)—Cherry Hills, with its hazards, and head-aches lurking on the outskirts of the mile-high city of Denver, awaits the first-round charge of golf's light brigade tomorrow in the United States open championship.

Subject to wind, weather and the characteristic vagaries of the game, the 42d annual title tournament appears to be as wide open a scramble as any since Bob Jones retired eight years ago, and as spectacular as the scenery, featuring a backdrop of snow-capped Rocky mountains.

Notwithstanding the establishment of Sophomore Sam Snead, the West Virginia mountaineer, as the betting choice tonight at approximate 5-to-1 odds, it was the expert consensus that at least a score of top-notchers, plus as many more "dark horses," had a chance to romp home in front at the end of the 72-hole quest for the crown now worn by burly Ralph Guldahl.

Guldahl set the open championship scoring record last year at Oakland Hills, near Detroit. He shot four rounds in 281, clipping a stroke off the former record, and beating Snead, the freshman sensation of 1937, by two shots.

Pretournament practice performances, as well as most unbiased opinion respecting the cumulative and progressive difficulties of Cherry Hills, have indicated the championship record is safe from further damage. Some "wild man," to quote the professional viewpoint, may combine sufficient luck and skill to take the course apart, but general belief is that the winning score will range between 285 and 290.

SARAZEN ON GAME.

So seasoned an observer as Gene Sarazen, two-time former champion who seems to be very much on his game again, said: "I'll take 290 and sit back comfortably to wait for 'em to hand me that cup again. I look for one of the younger sharpshooters—maybe Snead—to do the pace-setting. Very often enthusiasm is as useful as experience in an open championship. These younger fellows, and there are many good ones in this field, do not have the mental hazards to overcome nor are they beset by the recollection of previous failures."

Snead helped focus attention upon his chances by firing the best practice round, a three-under-par 68, which marked the only time 70 had been broken until two other long hitters, Jimmy Hines, of Great Neck, N. J., and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Boston, each produced a 69 during today's final round.

This looked like a good case for the siege guns but Cherry Hills, with its narrow fairways, water hazards and undersized greens,

Model Airplane Races Are Slated Here Sunday

Invitations Mailed to Out-of-Town Youngsters; Rules Are Announced for Entries.

By JACK TROY.

On the Northside airport at old Camp Gordon Sunday, Atlanta and out-of-town entrants will compete in two classes in a program of gas motor model airplane races, starting at 2 o'clock.

Plans were announced yesterday by John K. Coppage, director for the National Aeronautic Association and adviser for the Atlanta Aero Engineers, the club which is sponsoring the meet. Coppage said invitations had been mailed to clubs in Macon, Valdosta and Jacksonville, Fla. Each of these towns is expected to file entries.

Some of the rules and requirements were announced yesterday by Coppage, as follows:

Entries must have models on the field at 1 p. m. to be checked for weight and wing area. Minimum wing loading is 10 ounces plus 10 feet. Maximum weight is not to exceed seven pounds.

There will be one event for the two classes. That is the 30-second motor run.

Models are to be flown one or two at a time and the longest elapsed time a model leaves the ground until the model touches the ground again wins.

The senior class will be for entries aged 16 to 21. The open class will be for entries over 21.

The Atlanta Aero Engineers is a chapter of the National Aeronautic Association. One has to be a member and model must be licensed to enter. Applications can be made at the field.

A youngster must be 16 years old to obtain a license.

A fine list of prizes has been arranged for the winners and all is in readiness for the big meet.

This meet is a forerunner of a state-wide meet to be sponsored later by The Constitution.

SIDELIGHTS ON NATIONAL OPEN TOURNAMENT

By WHITNEY MARTIN.

DENVER, June 8.—(P)—National open divots:

Narrow fairways hemmed in by trouble are furling the brows of even the veterans... Tommy Armour, Bo'by Cruickshank and others of the old guard put in their time on the practice tee...

This is one league where curve ball hitters can't score. Hooks and slices make hunters and trappers of the players... It takes a pointer to find the ball in some of the rough. The last three holes are honeys... Light Horse Harry Cooper put two balls into the most surrounding the 17th green... the third splash was Cooper... Charley Lacey, of Los Angeles, came up to 18 today needing a par four for a 69... he took a fat six... Mortie Dutra, of Detroit, needed a par for a 70... he took a five.

And speaking of tough holes, Harold "Jug" McSpaden, of Boston, Mass., took 11 strokes on 11 yesterday... then came back today with a 69... the Zimmerman boys, Al and Emery, of Portland, Ore., might rate a nod... They are slim, bespectacled, scholarly looking lads who hit a nice tee ball and are pretty fair iron workers... And speaking of breaks, George Schneider, of Ogden, Utah, an alternate in his district, made the trip hoping to fill a vacancy of another district, but failed to get in... so he goes out and shoots a 70, one under par.

Johnny Goodman, Omaha amateur who won the open in 1933, is missing this year as the Walker cuppers have not returned from England... but the old "box car trio," of which Goodman was a member when he first nibbled at fame, is represented... Jack Pollard, of Omaha, who with Goodman and Frank Sedlak journeyed to tournaments in the late 1920s via any available means of transportation, qualified... Pollard dropped from sight as Goodman rose to fame, but he's making a comeback... The competition out here isn't all on the golf links... the Denver Country Club booked a match for today involving Vic Ghezzi, Jimmy Hines, Dick Metz and John Rogers, the home club pro... a purse of $400 was raised... tournament officials heard about it and put on a little pressure where it would do most good... the match was called off.

ATLANTA OFFICES AFFECTED BY SALE

Murray Company of Dallas Purchases Carver Cotton Gin Holdings.

Announcement was made yesterday by officials of the Murray Company in Dallas, Texas, of the purchase of the Carver Cotton Gin Company of East Bridgewater, Mass., manufacturers of cotton oil machinery. Both companies maintain Atlanta offices.

The Murray Company, manufacturers of cotton gin machinery, and distributors of air conditioning units, has a large plant here and another in Dallas, with sales agencies through the cotton growing world. Operation of the Carver concern will be continued as the Carver Cotton Gin Department of the Murray Company, it was announced. No purchase price was given.

L. A. Skinner, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Murray Company, with offices in Atlanta, said that the purchase of the Carver Company would mean the probable consolidation of the local Carver sales office with the Murray Company offices here, with little change in personnel of the two offices.

Mr. H. S. Sale, district manager of the Carver Cotton Gin Company here, was out of the city last night, and could not be reached.

ROUND-UP STARTED FOR GRAFT PROBE

Lottery Operators To Undergo Jury Questioning.

Special investigators of the solicitor general's office were preparing yesterday to start a round-up of special witnesses wanted for questioning by the Fulton grand jury Monday when Prosecutor E. E. Andrews resumes his law enforcement graft probe.

The inquiry is expected to take a new turn with several so-called "big shot" lottery operators being called for questioning in connection with "gray-offs" for police protection. Heretofore, only bootleggers have been under fire.

The present jury has three weeks left to complete its business. Additional bribery indictments against city policemen will be returned, it was indicated.

Eleven city policemen and six deputy sheriffs have been indicted on bribery charges. Gus H. Howard Jr., former deputy, was convicted Saturday and sentenced Tuesday to five years in a county prison camp in the first trial of a law enforcement officer coming from the graft inquiry.

'Japan Will Lose Even in Victory,' Officer Avers

Japanese forces will never completely conquer China, even though they may gain a military victory, Colonel Isaac Newell, retired army officer who has had years of service in the Orient, said here yesterday.

Colonel Newell was visiting friends here while en route to Sea Island Beach. He recently left China and stopped in Japan on his way to this country. He formerly was commander of the fifteenth infantry at Tientsin and maintains a home in Peiping.

"The Japanese have encountered much more resistance than they counted on," Colonel Newell said, "but they've gone so far they can't quit. Meanwhile the Chinese forces are getting stronger rather than weaker and their morale is good. "Even at that it is more than likely the Japanese will win from a military standpoint, but this does not mean a complete triumph. They will never be able to reap all the fruits of victory because they will never completely subdue the Chinese people. Japan will lose even in victory."

THOMAS IS CHEERED AT NEWARK HEARING

Reception Before Commission in Marked Contrast to Saturday Rioting.

NEWARK, N. J., June 8.—(AP)—Norman Thomas came back to Newark today, won at least one point in a personal plea to the city fathers and left with the cheers of sympathizers ringing in his ears.

The Socialist leader's brief mid-day visit to city hall was in marked contrast to his appearance here only four days ago. Then listed as main speaker at a Socialist rally in Military park, he was bombarded with eggs and vegetables, shouted down and finally escorted out of town under police protection.

Thomas related the story of the Saturday riot and declared the delegation of about 100 men who broke up the rally was "either a gang of hoodlums or veterans who have forgotten they once fought for democracy or probably a mixture of both."

Michael Breikopf, spokesman for a group of war veterans who sought in vain to have the Socialist meeting permit cancelled, emphatically denied the veterans at the park were responsible for the rioting.

Thomas also repeated his criticism of the police, saying they were either "grossly inefficient or greatly in favor of the mob." In this connection, he protested against Deputy Police Chief Philip Sebald handling the investigation of police tactics at the park, pointing out Sebald was in charge of the 400 officers at the scene.
